ZINOVIEFF LETTER DISCLOSURES.

RAMSAY MACDONALD'S VINDICATION.

DAILY MAIL'S BIG INFLUENCE IN PUBLICATION.

TELEPHONE MESSAGE.

London, Mar. 4. In consequence of a letter in this morning's Observer, in the course of which Sir Thomas Marlowe, the former editor of the Daily Mail, explains that the Daily Mail received a copy of the notorious Zinovieff Letter from two different sources on October 23rd, 1924, but in which he emphatically exonerates Mr. J. D. Gregory, a statement has been issued to the Press by Mr. Ramsay MacDonald.

Mr. Ramsay MacDonald was the Premier at the time of the publication of the Zinovieff Letter, and he points out that Sir Thomas Marlowe's letter shows conclusively that there was a conspiracy, and that the origin of the Zinovieff letter was probably a fake, but certainly its use was a fraud.

Avoiding Publication?

In his letter to the Observer, Sir Thomas Marlowe relates that he received a telephone message from a friend that a document "showing the relations between the Bolsheviks and the British Labour leaders," had been circulated to the Foreign Office, the Home Office, the Admiralty and the War Office.

The friend stated that Mr. Ramsay MacDonald knew all about it, but was trying to avoid publication.

Subsequently, says Sir Thomas Marlowe, he received two copies of the letter separately from other friends, and he relates how, when he learned that the letter was being published in the Press, Sir Eyre Crowe decided to publish it officially.

Not a Penny Paid.

Sir Thomas Marlowe says he has never seen Mr. J. D. Gregory, nor had he had any communication with him. He never paid Mr. Gregory or anyone else a penny for the Zinovieff Letter.

Mr. Ramsay MacDonald makes it quite clear that he does not believe that the Zinovieff Letter was communicated to any outside body by anyone inside the Foreign Office, or by any other Department which received a copy of the letter from the Foreign Office.

Political Fraud.

In his opinion, the letter passed into the hands of politicians who took the chance of rousing the country upon fraudulent issues.

He feels that the Foreign Office officials erred in their judgment. He is unable to understand why he was not informed by telephone that the Daily Mail had secured copies of the letter and intended to publish it, or why he was not informed that the Foreign Office proposed to send a Note to M. Rakowsky.

Mr. Ramsay MacDonald concludes that he never formed any definite conclusion about the Zinovieff Letter, but the important point to be considered was not its authenticity, but the use to which it was put.—Reuter.

Commons Debate.

London, Mar. 4. Matters raised in the report of the Board of Inquiry into the allegations regarding civil servants during the hearing of the "Franco case" will be debated in the Commons some time after the return from Geneva of the Foreign Secretary, Sir Austen Chamberlain.

It is anticipated that the Labour Party will direct particular attention to the Zinovieff letter incident which was referred to in the report, but the newspapers believe the Prime Minister will decline the demand for a further inquiry into the incidents connected with the letter and the publication of it in the Press together with the Note of protest sent to Rakowsky, then representative in London. CAR FALLS INTO HARBOUR.

PULLS INDIAN CONSTABLE IN AS WELL.

SEQUEL TO CURIOSITY.

Observing a motor-car without an attendant standing in Connaught Road, to the east of the Canton Steamboat Wharf, last night, an Indian constable, named Kushi Mahomed, approached the car and peered within. Curiosity prompted him to touch the machine, and the first thing he laid his hand on was the hand-brake, which he accidentally released.

The slight incline of the road towards the water's edge at this point, caused the car to back gradually into the Harbour. The constable, according to a police report, attempted to stop the car's progress and for that purpose he hung tenaciously on to the vehicle, but before he could do anything, both he and the car toppled into the water.

Being a strong swimmer, the constable managed to get to safety, but the car remained in the water from 9.30 p.m. when the incident occurred, until shortly after 2 o'clock this morning, when it was raised.

The extent of the damage to the car is not yet established. An Overland Whippet, No. 288, it is almost new, having been on the road for four months only.

CATHOLIC PRIEST IN MEXICAN PLOT.

MURDER OF PRESIDENT AMONG PLANS.

Mexico City, Mar. 4.

The Police state that through the arrest of a Catholic priest named Osorio Leyva, they have discovered a widespread plot to assassinate President Calles and General Obregon, the only candidate in the field to succeed President Calles in the presidential elections.

A quantity of literature urging Mexicans to revolt in the name of the League of the Defence of Religious Liberty is alleged to have been found in the priest's house.—Reuter's American Service.

JAPANESE PRINCESS SERIOUSLY ILL.

CONDITION SUDDENLY CRITICAL.

Tokyo, Mar. 4.

It is officially announced that the condition of the Princess Hisa, the youngest daughter of the Emperor, who was recovering from an attack of pneumonia, has suddenly become critical.—Reuter.

Princess Hisa is the younger of the two daughters of the Emperor and Empress of Japan, being born last year. The Emperor of Japan was married in 1924.

TANGIER PROBLEM.

POWERS GIVEN TO SPAIN IN AGREEMENT.

Madrid, Mar. 4.

A communique issued to-day states that the Tangier negotiations, which resulted in an agreement between France and Spain, turned mainly on the question of the powers to be given to Spain to prevent Tangier and the hinterland from being made the centre of contraband, disaffection and armed oppression against the Spanish Zone and Morocco generally.—Reuter.

LORD CHANCELLOR IMPROVED.

London, Mar. 4. The condition of the Lord Chancellor, Viscount Cave, following his recent operation, is reported to be more satisfactory.—British Wireless.

POLITICAL CRISIS IN EGYPT.

NEW BRITISH TREATY REJECTED.

SARWAT PASHA AND CABINET HAVE RESIGNED.

BITTER OPPOSITION.

Cairo, Mar. 4.

Sarwat Pasha, the Egyptian Premier, has resigned though it is understood that before he tendered his resignation, he informed Lord Lloyd, the British High Commissioner, that the Government had rejected the terms of the new Treaty with Great Britain.

The Egyptian Cabinet has resigned as the result of the dispute over the Treaty.

Since the conversations between Sir Austen Chamberlain and the Egyptian Premier in London during the summer, Sarwat Pasha has been scheming to erect sufficient support to withstand the expected attack by the extreme Nationalists.

The Stumbling Block.

He undoubtedly anticipated opposition to certain of the clauses of the proposed new Treaty, especially that relating to British military occupation for a further ten years, which is generally regarded as the main stumbling block.

It was expressed on all sides that Sarwat had since been playing for time by protracting the conversations through Lord Lloyd, hoping that he would be able to return to London in an endeavour to seek further concessions from Sir Austen Chamberlain.

Bitter Opposition.

Though the extreme Wafdists were bitterly opposed to Sarwat they did not appear inclined to shoulder the burden of office at the present juncture, and it was possible that the Treaty would have been rejected without a Ministerial crisis, if the Wafdists had not only had conversation with Sir Austen Chamberlain, but had actually agreed to the text of the Treaty.

The dissolution of Parliament is not unlikely.

Independence of Egypt.

Later. It is understood that the Egyptian Cabinet has replied to Lord Lloyd stating that the terms of the proposed new Treaty are unacceptable as they are incompatible with the independence of Egypt.

It is contended that the terms implied the right of Great Britain to occupy Egypt, which the Cabinet is quite unable to admit.—Reuter.

Maintain the Old.

Paris, Mar. 3. Specially interviewed by Reuter while on route to Geneva, Sir Austen Chamberlain said it was now sufficiently clear that the Egyptian Government would not accept the treaty he had negotiated with Sarwat Pasha.

"It is a misfortune," he said, and added that British relations would continue to be regulated by the Declaration of 1922.—Reuter.

GENERAL ELECTION FORECAST.

PROBABLY BE HELD IN JUNE, 1929.

London, Mar. 4.

Viscount Younger, speaking at Kilmarnock last night, said that the General Election would not be held until after the Budget of 1929, probably in June of next year.

The financial position of the country had improved considerably, but the Chancellor of the Exchequer would not be able to do much to reduce taxation this year.—British Wireless.

TERRIFIC SEAS IN HARBOUR.

FOUR DROWNED IN EXCITING SCENES OFF HOLTS.

OVER 20 RESCUED.

Four lives were lost when, in rough weather prevailing on Saturday afternoon, a big wave swept over the bows of a coal lighter and carried away all on board.

Of 29 persons carried into the sea, four were drowned, while the remainder were rescued by passing launches. The accident occurred off Holts Wharf and the calamity and the subsequent rescue work were witnessed as a thrilling incident by spectators on the waterfront and on a passing Star Ferry launch.

The lighter left Yau-mat in tow by the steam-launch Tung Hing, and at about one o'clock was passing Holts Wharf when a remarkably heavy sea swept the lighter, and carried away a great part of 30 tons of coal as well as everyone on board.

Rescue work was quickly carried out by two launches, the Kwong Sang and the Tai-sang, which reached the victims before the towing launch could turn round. They picked up 25 persons, but the other four including the master's two young sons, a lighterman, and a woman coolie, were drowned.

The lighter was waterlogged and was beached at Jardine's Sugar Refinery at East Point.

Half-an-hour after this mishap, another harbour craft, a passenger boat proceeding from the wharf, picked up some wreckage. Mr. M. S. Angus, was nearly drowned. A strong gust of wind upset the boat, throwing twelve persons on board into the water. They were picked up by the A.P.C. launch Hin Hock and taken ashore. The sampan sank.

According to a report made to the police by Mr. Grimes, of the N.A.A.F.I. canteen in Wellington Barracks, some person managed to break into the canteen between 9 p.m. on Saturday and 7.10 a.m. yesterday and steal sundries to the total value of £160.

Apparently more than one man broke into the canteen, for it was found that a small iron safe which contained between £200 and £300 was also carried away.

On the police being notified, enquiries were quickly set afoot with the result that the safe was located in the barrack yard. Examination proved that it was intact, the thieves, probably not having the necessary gear with which to force it open.

KOWLOON DOCK PROFITS.

OVER TWO LAKHS TO BE CARRIED FORWARD.

We are informed by Mr. R. M. Dyer, Chief Manager of the Hongkong and Whampoa Dock Co., Ltd., that the Company's gross profits for the year ending 31st December, 1927, subject to final audit, is $700,564.33.

After deducting interest, rates, Crown rent, insurance, directors' and auditors' fees, and allowing the sum of $62,017.81 for depreciation on buildings and plant, there remains a net profit for the year of $133,436.99, to which must be added the amount brought forward from last year, $68,614.11, making the total at credit of Profit and Loss Account at 31st December, 1927, $202,051.10, which the Directors propose to carry forward to new account.

The fifty-ninth ordinary general meeting of shareholders of the Hongkong Fire Insurance Co., Ltd., will be held at the offices of Messrs. Jardine, Matheson & Co., Ltd., on Monday March 26, at noon.

WAR ON SWABUE COMMUNISTS.

PANG PAI FEATHERING HIS NEST.

LARGE SUMS SENT BY THIRD INTERNATIONALE.

NAVAL PARTY LANDED.

Whatever the extent of the Sovietisation of Hoifung and Luk-fung district, an interesting suggestion has recently gained currency. It is said that Pang Pai, the supposed Chief of the "Soviet Government in the Ho-luk Fung district during his 'regime' has accumulated $400,000.

Much private property has been seized by the "Reds" and Pang Pai has handled a goodly portion, says a report from Chinese sources.

In this way alone Pang Pai is alleged to have secured a fortune of from $200,000 to $300,000, while from the Third International, at Moscow, Pang is said to have obtained about $100,000. The money was presumably intended to foster the "Red" outbreak at Hoifung and Lukfong.

Pang is alleged to have sent one of his subordinates to Swatow with a big sum of money to be telegraphically remitted to Macao, the suggestion being that he is preparing to fit directly Li Chai-sum's expedition threatens serious danger.

There appears to be every reason for assuming that Pang Pai will abandon his adherents and will try the life of a luxuriously rich Chinese.

Thousand of Troops in Field.

Swatow, Mar. 3. Troops are getting into position for the Ho-luk Fung campaign. If numbers are of any avail, there should be enough. Over 4,000 are reported to have assembled at Ho-pho, one of the half dozen centres from which the advance is to be made. Regional commanders are being appointed, and the troops at Ho-pho are nominally under General Chan Chi-thang, who is Regional Commander of five districts, Kiu-yang, Phou-long, Hui-lai and Hui-luk Fung. To the west and south, Brigadier Wong Hsu-chu is Commander of the five districts of Heng-long, Ngou-hua, Leng-chiu, Ho-nguan and Chik-lum.

So far, there is not much news of fighting, but it is said that both at Hui-lai and at Ho-pho advances were made by the troops, but that they retired on the failure of the villagers to provide sufficient food for them. This will necessarily be a problem.

Famine Feared.

These comparatively large numbers of troops are to advance into a naturally poor district, brought now to the verge of famine by the deliberate policy of the Soviet. Yet apparently very little provision is being made for food supplies, and responsibility is being thrust on the unfortunate local inhabitants. It seems in any case inevitable that famine will visit the district, and this will be terribly accentuated unless the Government arranges a Commissariat Department of its Army.

Party Landed.

There is a report from people of the district that the ships of the Canton Navy have taken up positions on the coast of Hui-luk Fung, and that one boat has entered Swabue harbour. It is further said that the vessel landed a party, before whom the officials of the Soviet fled. This party, however, entered the hospital and schools of the English Presbyterian Mission, which are occupied by the Communists, except for some medical students forcibly detained there by them, and it is said that twenty or thirty of the Communists were taken out and executed. Confirmation of this report, which comes from good sources, is now awaited.

There is much movement of troops to and from Swatow at present. Details of the 82nd Army, which has been ordered north, are following the main body, and a number left by the China Merchant steamer yesterday.

NEW LITTLE WAR IN IRAK.

TRIBES ON THE WARPETH AND THREATENING.

TROOPS FROM INDIA.

Bagdad, Mar. 4. The town of Kowelt is in a state of tension owing to reports from the interior, where a number of tribes are, it is clear, on the warpath, that a big offensive is being prepared with Kowelt as the main objective.

It is stated that the British authorities have ordered the immediate despatch of a battalion of troops to Kowelt from India.

The attitude of Ibn Saud is a conundrum. It is said on the one hand that he has sanctioned the tribal attacks owing to the anger roused by the recent devastation caused by the R.A.F. in their efforts to wipe out Feisal-ed-Dowish's raiders. On the other hand, it is thought that he is unable to withhold the tribesmen.—Reuter.

The war-like Wahabites recently appeared outside Kowelt and coolly demanded permission to trade, otherwise they would take what they wanted at the edge of the sword. The Sultan defied them to do their worst. H.M.S. Emerald was sent to Kowelt, and that cruiser is probably still on the spot.

The recent atrocities resulted in a decision to use the R.A.F. contingent against the tribesmen, and many hundreds of rebel tribesmen have been killed by bomb and machine-gun attacks in the past fortnight.

UNABLE TO READ THE WARNINGS.

FINED $200 FOR CARRYING AMMUNITION.

An illiterate Chinese, who arrived in the Colony by the a.s. President Jefferson from America yesterday, charged before Mr. W. Schofield at the Kowloon Magistrate's Court this morning with being in possession of 300 rounds of ammunition without a permit pleaded guilty.

Sergeant Fowler said the ammunition was found in the man's coat pockets. There had been no special attempt to conceal it.

Asked why he had not declared the ammunition prior to landing, defendant said he was not aware of the local regulations. He could neither read Chinese nor English and therefore did not understand any notices requesting passengers with arms to declare same to the Captain of the ship.

In imposing a fine of $200, or two months' hard labour in default, his Worship said that it certainly did not seem the defendant was conscious of the regulations.

EMINENT LAWYER'S DEATH.

SIR HARRY POLAND, K.C., DIES AT 98.

London, Mar. 4.

The death is announced of Sir Harry Poland, K.C., who was probably the oldest member of the legal profession. He was in his 99th year and had been a barrister for 73 years.—British Wireless.

An eminent lawyer, who retired from practice on receiving a knighthood in 1896, Sir Poland was for many years one of the counsel to the Treasury and the Home Office.

From 1871 to 1904, he was Recorder of Dover, and also for some years he was an alderman of the London County Council.

Since his retirement, the late Sir Harry Poland had written much on the reform of the law. He was a bachelor.

DRIZZLE OR MIST PREDICTED.

To-day's Observatory report states:—The China Sea depression has moved rapidly E.N.E. and now extends from North Luzon to the south of Japan. A fresh anticyclone has formed over North China. The monsoon will freshen along the south-east coast of China and over the North China Sea. The forecast up to noon to-morrow is:—North-east winds, moderate; generally overcast, some drizzle or mist.

KING'S COLLEGE OPENED.

THIS AFTERNOON'S BIG CEREMONY.

H. E. THE GOVERNOR UNLOCKS SUPER-BUILDING.

FOR 900 STUDENTS.

An event of considerable importance in the development of education in the Colony took place this afternoon, when His Excellency the Governor (Sir Cecil Clementi, K.C.M.G.) performed the ceremonial opening of King's College. The function was attended by a large gathering of those interested in education.

The School assembled at 2.30 p.m. in the Great Hall, and music was discoursed by the band of the King's Own Scottish Borderers until the arrival of His Excellency, when the National Anthem was played and the Governor's flag hoisted on the flagstaff.

After His Excellency had unlocked the main door and declared the College open, Sir Cecil entered the building, being followed by the visitors, Scouts and Ambulance men in uniform standing at attention along the south verandah.

The official party having taken their seats, His Excellency was presented with a ceremonial key and invited to unveil the School shield and the portrait of the late Mr. Chan Shek-shan, donor of the Chan Shek-shan Scholarship.

Headmaster's Report.

Then followed the presentation of a report by the Headmaster (Mr. A. Morris), who said:—Today is an auspicious occasion in the annals of educational progress in Hongkong, marking as it does the long delayed official opening of yet another school; a school to be known by the proud title of King's College, which is to provide for higher education up to Matriculation Standard. Some ten years ago, Dr. Lim Hkoned our University to a lighthouse. If this simile is true, then King's College is one of the many beacon buoys marking the navigable channel and approach to that lighthouse. If at first our light is feeble and flickering, with due care and attention to the fuel and trimming, with the slight of time, that light will burn no less brilliantly nor steadily than that of its sister beacons.

To you, Sir, the College is indebted for its name, for you will recollect that in March, 1926, when you visited the building in its incomplete state, you selected the style King's College—a title of which we all can be justly proud. It is my sincere hope that each student will strive to "live up" to, and justify its regal signification, and all that is implied thereby.

Past History.

At this juncture it will be of interest to trace the past history and development of the Saiyung-pun School, of which King's College is the outgrowth, exemplifying the proverb, "Great oaks from little acorns grow." Although many years must elapse before maturity is reached, yet the sapling has taken root, and under the guidance of succeeding Headmasters who must water the tree and prune it and ruthlessly cut away dead and decaying branches, the young giant will attain its full measure of growth, and rear its head amongst the older and more sturdy monarchs of the forest.

Saiyungpun School dates back to 1879, in which year the Government decided to establish a Free School at West Point, and appointed as the first Headmaster Mr. Fung Fu, a returned student from America, and who was selected after a competitive examination as an assistant teacher for the Central School where he remained for one year. The School was accommodated in Nos. 35, 37, 39 and 41 Third Street, the upper floors being occupied by Pundit Scholars, and the lower by Hakka pupils. Later English was taught to both sections without distinction.

Like the child Samuel, the school grew and prospered and after a period of 12 years, the number in attendance had reached 110. The late Dr. Eitel was instrumental in inducing the Government to erect a more permanent building which con-

MARSHAL LI LEAVES.

NOTABLE SPEECHES AT RECEPTIONS.

Marshal Li Chai-sum and his party left Hongkong yesterday after a brief official visit to Hongkong which has done much to further the understanding between the Colony and Canton. Marshal Li had an extremely busy day on Saturday and made several important speeches.

Luncheon Party.

Sir Shou-son Chow, Dr. Kotewall, Mr. Li Yau-tsun (chairman of the Hongkong Chinese General Chamber of Commerce), Mr. Luk Wan-chau and Mr. Leung Kwai-tien were hosts at a luncheon party at Hutton House, the residence of Dr. Kotewall. The function was of an informal nature. About fifty were present including Madame Li Chai-sum and the ladies of the visiting party.

Another Reception.

The reception in honour of Marshal Li Chai-sum which was given by the two Chinese representatives, Sir Shou-son Chow and Dr. R. H. Kotewall in the Chinese Merchants' Club on Saturday afternoon was attended by all who had been invited. The guests were Marshal Li Chai-sum, Mr. Chu Chao-hsin, (the Kwangtung Foreign Commissioner), General Hsu King-tong, (Commander of the Fourth Army and Field-marshal of the Southern Expeditionary Force), Admiral Chan Chat, (Commander of the Canton Navy), Mr. Li Man-yan (Commissioner of the Revenue Bureau of the Canton Finance Department), General Chang Wai-chang (Director of the Kwangtung Aviation Bureau), General Chan Hing-wan (Assistant Director of Aviation) and Mr. Lai Man-yum (a principal A. D. C. to Marshal Li).

There were more than a hundred guests present including Sir Robert Ho Tung, Mr. Wong Kwong-tin, Mr. Ho Kom-tong, Mr. T. N. Chau, Mr. Li Yau-tsun, Mr. Chan Pek-chun, Mr. Chu Yue-tung, Mr. Ko Leong-hoe, Mr. Li Sing-kui, Mr. Lau Yuk-wan, Mr. Li Jowson, Mr. M. K. Lo, Mr. Simon Tse Yan, Mr. Choy Hing, Mr. Li Tse-fong, Mr. Ng Wah, Mr. Wong Tak-kwong, Mr. Kwok Siu-lan, Mr. Lee Hysan, Mr. Kwok Chuen, Mr. Ho Leung, Mr. W. N. Thomas, Dr. Ma Luk, Mr. Ip Lan-chuen, and many others.

Marshal's Popularity.

Sir Shou-son Chow in his address welcoming Marshal Li, first thanked the Marshal for his presence at the reception. He referred to the Canton-Hongkong "affair" of the year before last which he described as a temporary misunderstanding caused by some sort of obstruction. It had now been passed.

Prosperity in business depended largely on international goodwill and an internal peace, for China had an old teaching "keep close to the virtues and be friendly with your neighbours."

Sir Shou-son Chow then praised the administrative accomplishments and the popularity of Marshal Li. He mentioned the visit paid by Dr. Kotewall and himself to Canton recently and thanked Marshal Li for the courtesy extended to them. Sir Shou-son said the prospect of international goodwill and mutual co-operation between the Government and the merchants was brighter than ever and called on the gathering to drink to the health of Chairman Li and the prosperity of the Republic of China.

Friendly Co-operation.

The Hon. Dr. Kotewall said that for three years there had been an impassable barrier between Hongkong and Canton. It was a barrier which had widened until there seemed to be no means of breaking through it. Conferences had taken place without result, despite the longing of the people. By his visit to Hongkong Marshal Li had swept the barrier away and the Chinese rejoiced in the effects which must follow his visit. They welcomed him not only as the Administrative Chief of the two Kwang Provinces but also as one who had untied a big knot for them.

Dr. Kotewall said that when he visited Canton some weeks ago in company with Sir Shou-son Chow they were most cordially received by Marshal Li who spoke then of co-operation between Canton and Hongkong. They knew then that the day was not far off when Canton and Hongkong would closely co-operate in a spirit of real friendship and goodwill. Now, that vision had been realised to their great pleasure.

"Sir Shou-son Chow and I, as Chinese representatives have but one aim, the good of the Chinese in Hongkong," continued Dr. Kotewall. "We do not mingle with political matters outside Hongkong, but the political situation in Canton is closely bound up with the commerce of Hongkong. We cannot therefore evade our responsibility, and so, in our small way, we are setting our hands to the plough."

"Marshal Li is rooting out the evil of Communism in Canton and stamping out brigandage. In this, he and the Hongkong Government are united for mutual help to the end that the citizens of both places may go about their daily life in peace. The Chinese in Hongkong pray for this and therefore wish Marshal Li every success."

Marshal Li's Reply.

Rising to reply Marshal Li Chai-sum was received with an enthusiastic applause. He first thanked Sir Shou-son Chow and Dr. Kotewall for the invitation and expressed his particular gratitude that all invited had come. Referring to the hindrance of Hongkong-Canton friendship, the Marshal declared that according to his own opinion it had been due to two principal reasons. There had been an obstruction and some misunderstanding.

The obstruction between Hongkong and Canton was the Communist element. The Communists shouted "down with the capitalists" and the compradore system," etc. but none of such slogans was based on the original policy of the Kuomintang party. The Communists had used the name of the Kuomintang to prosecute their work of wiping out mankind. To take the recent Communist terrors in the Hoi-Luk-fang district or in Kungchow and Yehow. The Communists had been burning and killing there on a large scale. The reason that they wanted to deprive the majority of their means of living was that they would be forced to join their party.

Communist Plots.

Such a policy was similar to that of the bandits. He had personal experience in Liuchow where the tufei (local outlaws) had killed and burned, and most of these homeless villagers being forced to join the bandit gangs. That policy of the Communists was exposed in April when the Kuomintang started a ching tang (purge the party) movement.

The work has been difficult but they succeeded at last. With the Communists defeated the obstruction between Hongkong and Canton was removed.

"The second thing is misunderstanding," he said. The policy of the Kuomintang, which was founded by the late Dr. Sun, was originally for the salvation of the country. Since the Communists broke into the party, however, they have usurped part of the good points of the party and this has caused misunderstanding of the party by the people.

"I can assure you that a real Kuomintang is constructive and not destructive. With such misunderstanding removed we can have mutual co-operation between the Government and the merchants, friendship between Hongkong and Canton, development of trade and prosperous undertakings.

"I highly appreciate the advice just given me by Sir Shou-son Chow and Dr. Kotewall and I can assure you on behalf of the Government of Kwangtung that everything will be done for preservation of peace in the province. I will devote all my efforts to its protection. To talk of reconstruction is useless for I believe that when there is peace and stability reconstructive measures will naturally come into effect. You are all constructionists and you came to Hongkong for peace and stability. Once peace and prosperity are established, I believe you are all willing to invest money for the reconstruction of Kwangtung."

Inter-Dependent.

Turning to mutual relations, Marshal Li said that everybody recognised that because of their geographical positions, Canton and Hongkong are inter-dependent. Exports passed from Canton to Hongkong and imports from Hongkong to Canton.

Marshal Li Chai-sum added that he was indebted to Sir Shou-son Chow and Dr. Kotewall for their efforts in bringing the present meeting about by going up to see him as representatives of Hongkong Government. He also thanked the gathering for their enthusiastic reception of him, not so much because of the honour to himself, but particularly because it was an honour to all Chinese. He hoped to be able to do his best and, as the representative of the Kwangtung Government, he invited them all to visit Canton in the interests of co-operation between the official class and the public.

ANOTHER BANQUET.

Another Notable Speech by the Marshal.

On Saturday evening, Marshal Li and his party were entertained at a banquet by the Chinese Chamber of Commerce in the South China Restaurant on the China Building. There was a gathering of more than a hundred and a long string of crackers was fired.

Mr. Li Yau-tsun, Chairman of the Chamber of Commerce, presided and was supported by Dr. Kotewall, Mr. Li Yik-mui, (vice-chairman of Chamber), and Mr. Ip Lan-chuen, (the secretary).

Mr. Ip Lan-chuen welcomed the Marshal and said that the Government welcome and the invitation of Mrs. Li to reside at the Government House had established a precedent which was an honour to all Chinese. This showed that Marshal Li was honoured by Chinese as well as Europeans.

Suffered Terribly.

"Since the Red terror, Canton had suffered terribly," Mr. Li continued. "Fortunately we had Chairman Li back to wipe out the Reds and had peace restored. We look forward for improvement of government administration, development of industries and prosperity of the people, and hope that the province will soon become a most prosperous part of the country."

Unprecedented Honours.

In his speech of reply Marshal Li said that the Chinese in Hongkong should be credited for all the unprecedented honours given him by the Hongkong Government. "I pointed out in my speech earlier to-day that the unfavourable circumstances in Kwangtung were all due to Communist terror," declared Marshal Li. "Since the Communists got in they have misled all classes of people. The so-called Labour movement of late has caused the workmen to become idle. The so-called Students movement has led the youngsters to care only for parades and slogans. The farmers have come into the city to join the Peasants movement and left the fields untilled. So we can see that all such unfavourable circumstances have been caused by the Communists."

Undesirable Movements.

"Since we exposed the Communist evil plot, we have done

our best to have such undesirable movements stopped. This is because we believe that such movements will benefit no one. Take for example the workman. He may secure some increased pay through the labour movement but this will not be sufficient to cover his loss of a number of months of unemployment. I believe that the only means to secure happiness and prosperity for the people is to make the entire country rich and strong.

Take for example the United States of America. Workmen there make more than a hundred dollars a month. How can our workmen expect so high a wage if our country is not as wealthy as America."

Marshal Li then condemned the illegal labour unions, the functions of some of which he considered absurd. Taking the Shopkeepers' Labour Union as an example he pointed out that according to the regulations all the shop folk, probably with the exception of the chief manager, were labourers. If this was the case, all the government officials could be called labourers.

Absurd Movements.

As chairman of the Government, Marshal Li remarked, he himself might then be exempt from being a unionist but all his assistants would have to join the labour unions. When such a union called for a strike, the Government service would have to be suspended. Were not such methods of the labour movement absurdities? the Marshal asked.

Seeing the illegal ways of the so-called labour movements, the Marshal continued, he had ordered the suspension of most of the labour unions in Canton. Unreasonable agreements which the merchants had been forced to sign were declared null and void or revised. Students were prohibited from parading and posting slogans, and all other so-called popular movements had been suspended.

Banknote Problem.

Marshal Li Chai-sum made a very important statement on the subject of Kwangtung's finances. He said that by economy and retrenchment, the Government had made a surplus of about $2,000,000 since the New Year, the monthly revenue being from six to seven millions of dollars. That surplus had been earmarked for banknote security. In spite of most pressing problems, the Government will continue to make sacrifices so that in three or four months, the banknotes (issued by the Nationalist Central Bank of China and now at a big discount) will be restored to parity. He even hoped that par would be reached in about two months, Marshal Li added.

On his return to Canton he will report to the Kwangtung Government that he had been most favourably received both by the Government and the people of Hongkong and he was certain that the Canton Government will do all possible to preserve amity.

Yesterday Marshal Li Chai-sum had a conference with H. E. the Governor (Sir Cecil Clementi) at Government House.

OFFICIAL FAREWELL.

Large Crowd Witnesses Departure.

Marshal Li Chai-sum and his party left Hongkong yesterday morning for Canton by the gunboat Felying. A large crowd of Chinese gathered at Queen's Pier well before the time of the Marshal's departure, and this steadily grew until it reached similar proportions to that which assembled when Marshal Li arrived on Friday morning.

The party arrived at the Pier promptly at 10 a.m., Marshal Li being accompanied by His Excellency the Governor and Capt. Whyte. A guard of honour and the band from the Queen's Royal Regiment was drawn up on the Praya and this was inspected before the party went on the Pier.

Marshal Li shook hands with those assembled to bid him farewell and then, accompanied by those in his party, boarded the launch Vic-

POLICE CLEAR CUP-TIE PITCH.

PLAYERS DODGE HORSES AND THE CROWD.

Scenes unknown to English football since the fiasco of the first Cup Final at Wembley, in 1923, were witnessed at Nottingham recently. Great excitement was stimulated by the replay of Nottingham Forest's cup-tie with their neighbours, Derby County.

Over 35,000 people crowded into the ground, and some time before the start all gates were closed. Hundreds were clamouring for admission when this order was given, and at once the cry went up "Force the gates."

Thousands of would-be spectators crowded on to the pitch, from which they had to be moved by mounted police.

Even when the pitch itself had been cleared dense crowds collected between touch-line and stands.

Throughout the game players had to dodge spectators and horse police, whenever the game fluctuated near the touch lines.

LETTER GOLF.

1—The idea of letter golf is to change one word to another and do it in four, a given number of strokes. Thus to change COW TO HEN, in three strokes, COW, HOW, HEW, HEN.

2—You can change only one letter at a time.

3—You must have a complete word, of common usage, for each jump. Slang words and abbreviations don't count.

4—The order of letters cannot be changed. One solution is printed on another page of this issue.

ARE YOU SUSCEPTIBLE TO COLDS?

Now is the season for colds and some people are more subject to them than others under identical conditions. This is due in a large measure to the person's vital power, the ability of the system to resist attacks. The treatment of colds therefore should be directed to preventing them, which is best done by invigorating the system and building up the general health.

The diet should be generous but not stimulating and articles of easy digestion should be chosen. Eight hours, at least, of sleep, preferably in the early part of the night, are essential. For medicine Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are especially adapted because they build up the blood, strengthen the nerves and tone up the organs of digestion. You can get them at your chemist, or post free, $1.50 per bottle, $8.00 for 6 bottles, from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., 60, Kiangse Road, Shanghai.

Skin Troubles Healed by Famous Wash

One Minute Test Shows How
Are you tormented with the agony of a burning, itching skin, which seems to defy relief? Do you suffer from eczema, pimples, dandruff, or any form of skin disease?
At no risk to you we invite you to try this one minute test. Go to your druggist and get a bottle of Lavo! Gently wash the itching or diseased part of your skin with this clean, disappearing antiseptic liquid. Then watch for results. If you do not experience that calm, cool sensation, if that itching, that inflammation is not BROKEN IN ONE MINUTE, just take the bottle back and your money will be refunded AT ONCE.

LAVO!

The Lotion for Skin L. is a famous formula of D.D.D. Laboratories of America (for 15 years makers of factory formulas) and sold by all good druggists. Price 10c. Bottle 25c. 3 for 75c. Distributors: K. & P. Co., 31, The Arcade, Hongkong.

"THE CIRCUS."

CHARLIE CHAPLIN AT THE QUEEN'S.

The one and only "Charlie" is again on the screen at the Queen's Theatre all this week, appearing in "The Circus," a film-story written, produced and directed by himself. This clever comedy is at present drawing big houses in London and New York, and the Hongkong Amusements, Ltd., are to be commended on their enterprise in securing such a quick release here.

At yesterday's screenings, there were packed audiences, and no doubt this will be the rule for the remainder of the season. Whilst it may be that Charlie Chaplin has been seen in more exuberantly funny pictures, it can certainly be said that "The Circus" shows him in his most characteristic moods. And it is these typical "Charlie touches" that make Chaplin so universally popular. A film critic, writing in regard to "The Circus," asked: "If there anyone else in the film world whose every gesture must be watched with the closest attention for full appreciation of acting?" It has always been so, he says, with Charlie Chaplin, and it is the case in this film.

All through the film, from the very first moment when he appears, Charlie attracts attention by his whimsicalities and artistry. One of the very best touches is when he carries a magician's table into the circus ring and accidentally gives the whole show away by pressing a button which releases rabbits, pigs, pigeons and ducks from silk hats. His frantic endeavours to capture the live-stock must be seen to be appreciated. Then in his tight-rope act, he is funniness itself, even although the climax is rather overdone.

And so one could go on recalling the numerous incidents which give Charlie full scope for his originality. But it is needless to add more; for no doubt every film-fan will make a special point of seeing "The Circus" this week.

From the technical point of view, the film is first-class production, and the supporting cast is all that could be wished.

MR. ORMSBY GORE CANNOT VISIT COLONY.

In response to a letter by Sir Henry Pollock, recently, the Colonial Secretariat announces that the Hongkong Government despatched a telegram to the Secretary of State for the Colonies on February 17, and received a telegram in reply on February 27, regarding the Hon. Mr. Ormsby Gore's visit to the Colonies. The telegrams follow:

Translation of code telegram, from the Governor, Hongkong, to the Secretary of State, London. Date, 17th February, 1928: "Unofficial Members of Executive and Legislative Councils unanimously request that Mr. Ormsby Gore may extend his journey so as to include visit to Hongkong. I heartily support this request.—Governor."

Translation of code telegram, from the Secretary of State, London, to the Governor, Hongkong. Date, 27th February, 1928: "Your telegram 17th February. Much appreciate invitation extended to Ormsby Gore to visit Hongkong but regret that time will not permit this, as important that he should return for last part of Session.—Secretary of State."

Chief E. R. A. Garrod, of H.M.S. Titania, passed away at the Royal Naval Hospital on Saturday last. There was a large gathering of naval officers and men at the funeral, which took place yesterday afternoon, the remains being interred at the Protestant Cemetery. A profusion of wreaths were laid on the grave. The firing party was provided by members of H.M.S. Titania.

Peasant Pottery.

MAIN INSPIRATION, THE BARNYARD.

Peasant pottery and glassware from France, Italy and Czechoslovakia now comes to cheer the heart of the modern and add a touch of colour to his contemporary furniture.

Amusing, useful and ornamental, these odd pieces of pottery look to mundane things for their inspiration and reflect a realism that is instinctive with the simple peasants who make them.

Unlike old pieces of pottery that sometimes were merely decorative and ornamental, these new gay additions serve a purpose.

Odd pitchers come in for their share of popularity. Candlesticks, flower bowls, holders for flowers in low bowls, hook-ends, ash trays, sauce boats, and sugar and creamers all have their new interpretations, too.

pieces, they assume different poses, bringing with them that amusing note that this nonchalant age demands.

For instance, there is the Quimper peasant candlestick, the same Breton figure posing with a holder on his head. He is a husky man, with a gay polka-dotted skirt and striped trousers, the same peasant as of old, but with a new idea.

A Prancing Candle-stick.

For another candle-stick holder, these peasants originate a grotesque little prancing horse in bright blues and yellows with a touch of that deep, pleasing red that their flowers give. They use their flowers and a few sprays of green to dress up the horse and very festive indeed is he, with a decorative candle on his back.

Czechoslovakia goes in for pitchers and decanters in much of its new pottery and glassware. A new kind of crackled pottery and a novel flecked glass both suggest the feathers of fowls and are used appropriately to fashion owls, roosters, hens, ducks, and all Artificial Silk.

LORD ROTHERMERE'S PROPHECY.

The artificial silk industry is the most promising industry which this country has developed for a generation, says a writer in a Home paper, and at a time when several new works are starting production it is distinctly gratifying to learn, from evidence given before the Board of Trade's inquiry into the position of the hosiery trade, that the popularity of artificial silk is rapidly and continuously growing. The new dull finish which manufacturers are now giving to their products, making them, except to an expert, indistinguishable from silk, was stated by one witness to have led to a very marked increase in the demand for artificial silk stockings, and a corresponding decline in the demand for cheap foreign hosiery.

The steady expansion of this

European peasants send these barnyard animals into the modern home: (1) Czechoslovakian iridescent pottery duck serves as a dressing boat; (2) Italy conceives two wreath-like horses in colourful pottery as ideal book ends; (3) A gaudy penguin with red wings, head and feet is really a decanter; (4) Breton peasants make a prancing Quimper ware horse into a candlestick; (5) a tan crackle ware owl, with unblinking black eyes, is the kind of pitcher children love.

Nature's Colour.

Usually the peasants who make this pottery look no farther than their own barnyards for inspiration of their designs. A strutting cock is quite as decorative to them as some intricately worked out imaginative animal or other design. And they see humour in the pets of their own back-yard. For none of these new pieces is without a certain amusing note.

As for the colour, the blue of Italy's skies, or the brown and green of Brittany are as truly given as the gaudy Czechoslovakian reds and yellows.

From France come some delightful new additions to the ever-popular Quimper ware from Brittany. The same little peasant's figures, in home-spun clothes of browns, greys, dark reds, greens and yellow appear. But in the new kinds of birds that, when tipped, pour forth not song but food and drink.

One glass penguin decanter has gaudy red head, legs, wings and a roving grey eye. A cracked pottery owl pitcher has soft brownish beige body with a black handle and an unblinking black eye.

Italy shows its flair for imaginative interpretations of ordinary things in its new horse designs, some of which are used for book ends. A pair of pre-historic looking animals, with extravagant necks, stand as they might in conversational mood under a pasture tree and no book can slip by them. These are in gorgeous reds, blues and browns.

For Salad Dressing, a Duck.

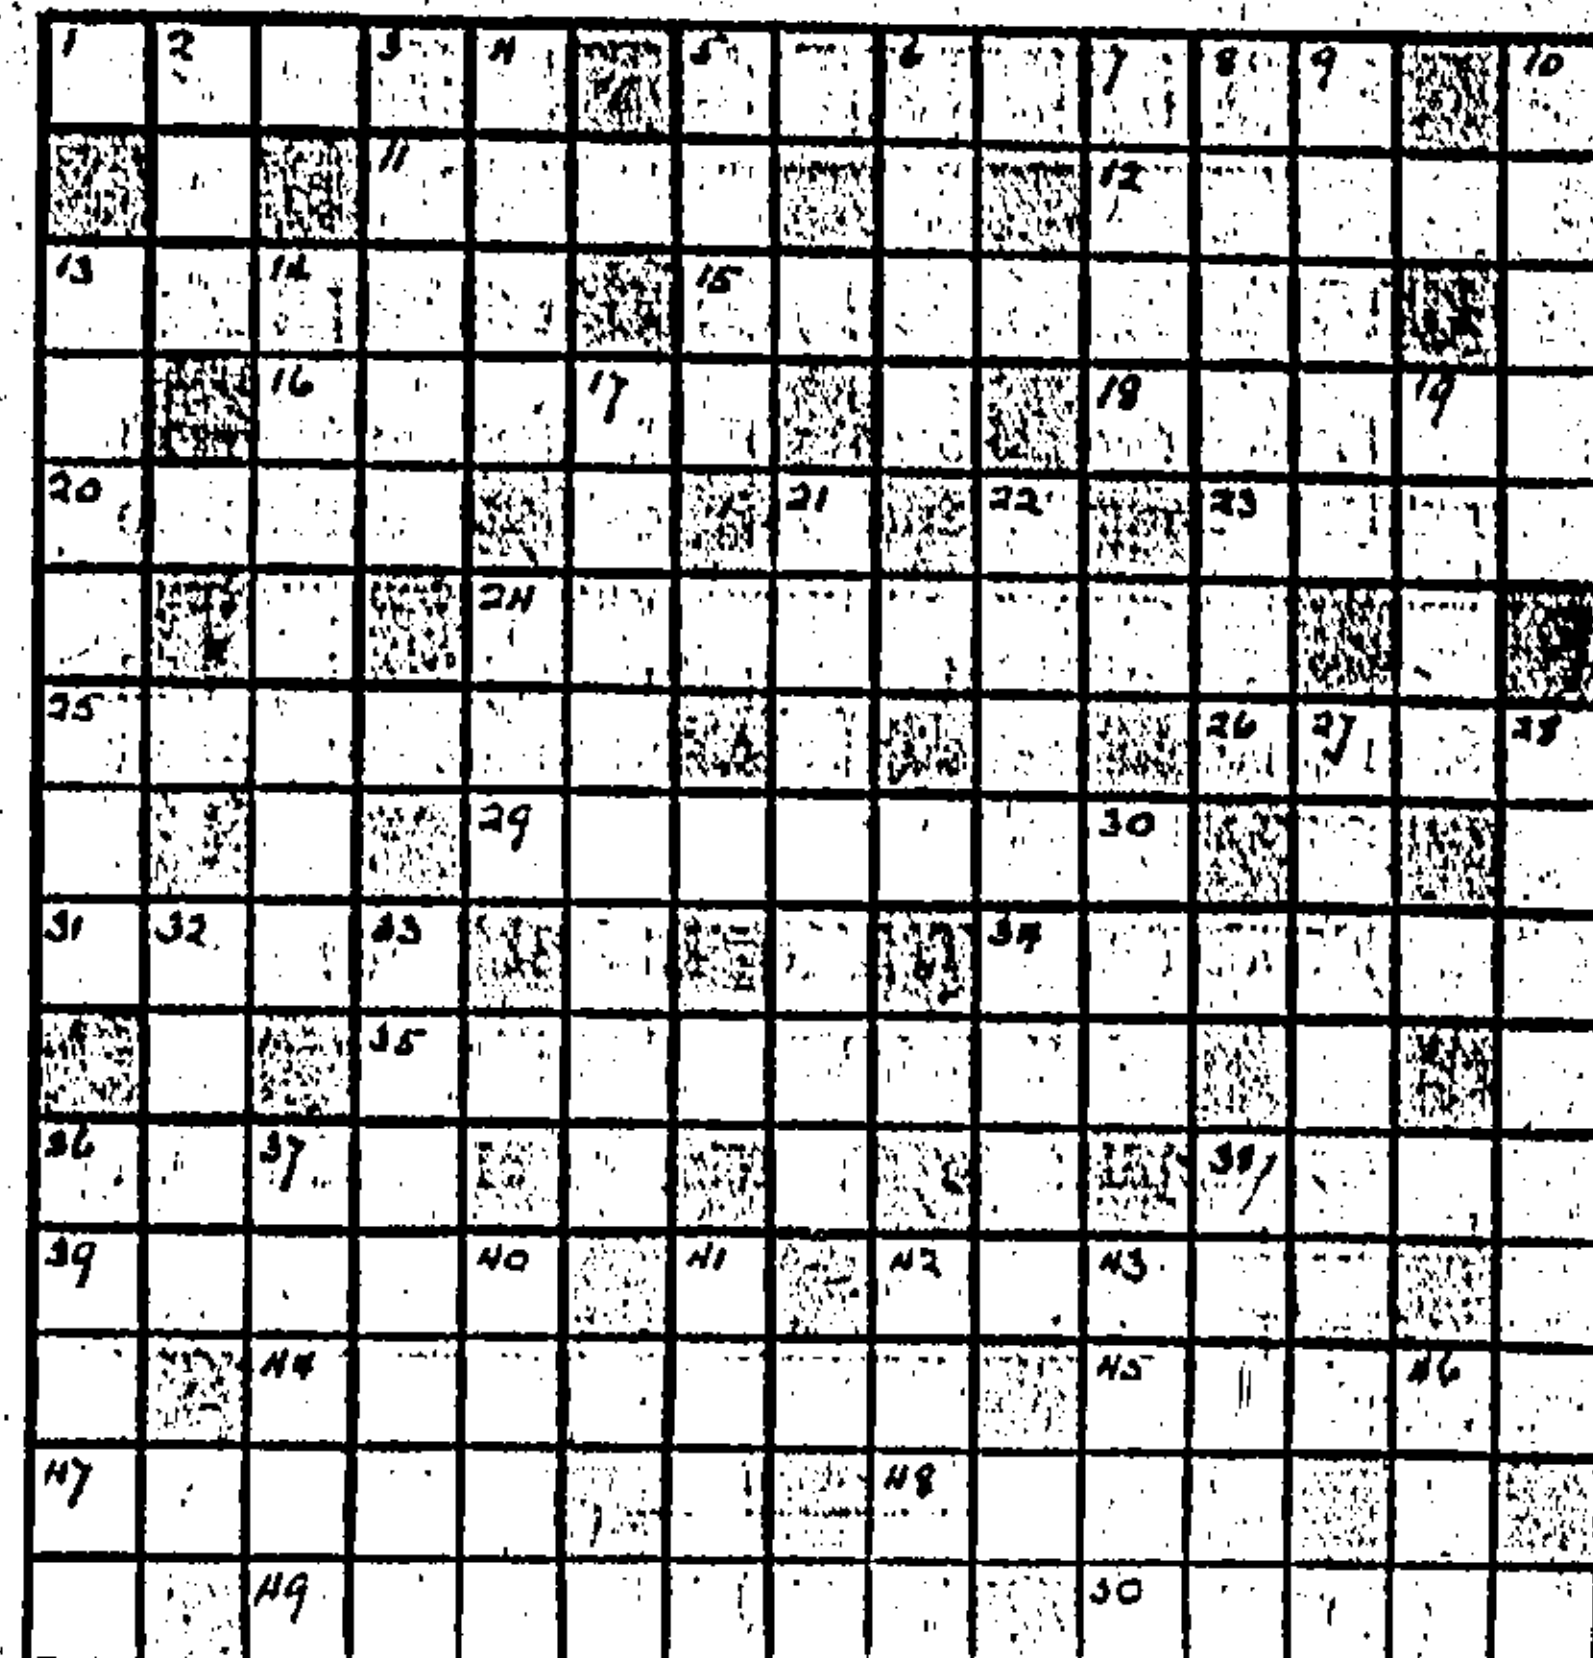

Another Italian contribution is the low duck salad dressing boat.

Industry, in which the safeguarding duty imposed two years ago has played its part, is of the greatest benefit to the nation, which has suffered in recent years from the depression in the textile industries, always one of the chief foundations of its prosperity. Lord Rothermere's prophecy in 1924 that at no very distant date "half of the clothing of the world will be made wholly or partly of artificial silk," has come with every year nearer to fulfillment.

No solid colour is this useful little creature as he sits, apparently just floating along on a pond. He has the iridescent gleam of colours, in blues, greys, greens and black that any duck has.

Each piece is distinctive. One is an addition to any table. A menagerie would be most useful and decorative in any home.

SECURITY.

Britain's attitude towards China could hardly have been more succinctly stated than in the speech which His Excellency the Governor delivered at the luncheon given to Marshal Li Chai-sum and his colleagues on Friday. In the word "security," Sir Cecil Clementi summarised the aims and aspirations of British traders, and he was able to show that those aims and aspirations also animated the Chinese people in districts which have so badly suffered during a long period of unrest and uncertainty. The elimination of pirates and brigands, the putting of an end to civil war, the protection of life and property and trade and commerce—these were the remedies which His Excellency prescribed, and, as he rightly said, once these things are accomplished, there will dawn for South China such an era of prosperity as she has not experienced for many a long year.

His Excellency was very pointed in his observations when he asserted that if security were assured, there would no longer be any need for any further clamour about "unequal treaties," "Imperialism," and other senseless slogans. It is precisely because there is at present, in so many parts of China, no such security as was indicated in Sir Cecil Clementi's speech, that the safeguards provided by Treaty have to be retained. When the reverse is the case, then no obstacle whatever will stand in the way of a far-reaching revision of the treaties. It is not as if China had no example in this matter, for right at her own door it is being shown, in Hongkong and in Shanghai, that security can be guaranteed, provided there is the will and the determination. So it all comes back again to the old point—namely, that the remedy lies with China's own leaders. It is absurd for Chinese politicians to demand the abrogation of the treaties so long as the necessity for safeguards exists. As the position improves, something can admittedly be done in the way of revision, but the Chinese cannot expect to secure the full measure of their demands unless they, on their part, discharge the obligations which lie upon them. It is a matter of getting down to the root of the question—causes, and not effects, have first to be dealt with.

Of Britain's sympathy with Chinese aspirations there cannot be any possible doubt. She is both willing and anxious to see the country administered as it ought to be, and she can be relied upon to demonstrate her practical sympathy by doing all in her power towards helping the Chinese to raise their status amongst the comity of nations. The new contact which has been established between Hongkong and Canton undoubtedly has its value in this connexion. Marshal Li Chai-sum and his colleagues have during the past few days received ample evidence of our willingness to co-operate in any movement which is for the mutual benefit of the two great racial centres whose fortunes are so closely interwoven. It is equally satisfactory to have the obviously sincere assurances of Marshal Li that his Government is just as keen on maintaining and strengthening the cordial relations which at present exist between this Colony and Canton. The pending visit of H.E. the Governor to the Southern capital should have the result of putting the seal on the rapprochement which has been so strikingly demonstrated during the past week.

The Egyptian Problem.

Egypt's rejection of the terms of the proposed new treaty with Great Britain may, even in the absence of the precise nature of the proposals, be described as an excellent example of political folly. The extremists have forced a Ministerial crisis on the country for no other reason than that they suspected Sarwat Pasha, who has resigned the Premiership, of accepting the British viewpoint that the British Government was continuing its policy of seeking to preserve the integrity of Egypt. Sir Austen Chamberlain, who may be sure, made a sincere attempt in his conversations and in the draft treaty, to meet the legitimate aspirations of Egypt, and if the extremists hope by shouting to induce the British Government to make greater concessions than are justified by wisdom and by the history of the past forty years, they will be sadly disappointed. British policy in Egypt has always been marked by a desire to leave the country to herself as far as is consistent with the security of communications, her defence, the protection of foreign interests and of the Sudan. We made a declaration in 1922, terminating the Protectorate formerly held, introducing a proper Constitution, but retaining the defence under British control. It is the expressed necessity for the retention of British troops in Egypt for a period of ten years that has proved the great stumbling block in the present negotiations. The Egyptian Cabinet contends that such terms imply the right of Great Britain to occupy Egypt, but whether or not this is true, stern facts dictate the clause. Egypt could never resist interference by a foreign Power if an attempt was made, while we have special interests which must be preserved until we are satisfied of Egypt's ability to carry out her obligations to international society as an independent sovereign state. We have no doubt Sir Austen Chamberlain went as far as reasonably possible with the Egyptian desire to further reduce the limits of British control. By rejecting the proposals the Wafdist extremists have merely halted the progress of their country as future British action can only be directed in accordance with the declaration of 1922.

FORGED CANTON BONDS.

GREEDY MONEY-CHANGERS SUFFER LOSS.

Considerable numbers of forged Canton Government Treasury Bonds have recently been discovered by victimised money-changers in the Wing Hon Road and other districts of Canton. It appears that the counterfeiters usually hand these forged Bonds to money-changers at night-time to be exchanged for coin at about twenty per cent. of their face value, and in the artificial light it is difficult for the money-changers to see whether the bonds are genuine or not. Many a money-changer, in his greed, had thus been swindled, according to reports from Canton.

DAY BY DAY.

NONE SO LITTLE ENJOY LIFE, AND ARE SUCH BURDENS TO THEMSELVES, AS THOSE WHO HAVE NOTHING TO DO. THE ACTIVE ONLY HAVE THE TRUE RELISH OF LIFE.

There was a clean bill of health in the Colony over the week-end.

The B. I. s.s. Tilawa, which leaves Amoy this evening, is due here tomorrow.

The P. and O. s.s. Malwa, from Hongkong, arrived at Marseilles on the 2nd March at 7.30 a.m.

The B. I. s.s. Shiran, which left Singapore on the 1st instant, is due here tomorrow evening.

Bringing the Australian mails, the E. and A. Company's s.s. St. Albans, is due here from Manila at daylight tomorrow.

Forthcoming weddings announced include that of Lieut. R. A. Peyton, R.N., H.M.S. Argus, to Miss I. McCann Thornhill.

The s.s. President Jefferson, arriving from Seattle and Shanghai, reports the death of one Japanese passenger from tuberculosis when one day out from the former port.

Mr. C. W. L. King, of the Penang Rubber Estates, was a passenger arriving from Singapore this morning by s.s. Sawa Maru. He will depart on home leave by s.s. Empress of Russia, sailing on Wednesday.

This morning's Harbour Office reports gave 18 arrivals and 13 departures, of which seven and three respectively were British, leaving 74 vessels in harbour, British 29. Tonnage was high, but inward freights were comparatively low. Throughs were generally good with British making the highest individual registry of the day, one of 7,950 tons.

The hearing of the case in which Sandager Singh, an Indian watchman of the Standard Oil Company, is being charged before Mr. W. Schofield, at the Kowloon Magistrate's Court, with the murder of Jitta Singh, another watchman, has been fixed for Friday morning at 11.30 o'clock. Friday afternoon and next Tuesday and Wednesday afternoons are also being reserved for the case.

Following a recent collision between a junk and a sampan off Pulo Island, near Aberdeen, in which a small Chinese girl was crushed to death, it is learned from this morning's police reports that a Chinese named Kwok Shun-lee, the steersman of the junk concerned in the collision, has been arrested by the police on Saturday and will be charged with the manslaughter of the child.

At the Marine Court this morning, before Commr. J. B. Newell, D.S.O., R.N., Leung Ng, mistress of a cargo boat, was charged with using drags and grapples to lift objects from the harbour bed in the Naval Anchorage, without written permission of the Harbour Master. Pleading guilty, the accused was sentenced to a fine of $5, with the alternative of five days' imprisonment.

Among shipping movements recorded are those of the s.s. Kan-chow, of the China Navigation Company, from Talkoo Dock, she being scheduled to sail for Shanghai at 2 p.m. tomorrow; the s.s. Wing On, from lay-up, going to the wharf on Saturday and sailing for Hongkong at 7 p.m. tomorrow; and the s.s. Hanyang, taken in hand at Kowloon Docks for overhaul yesterday.

Sir Peter Grain, who has been sitting with the Chief Justice, Sir Henry Gollan, and the Puisne Judge, Mr. J. R. Wood, in the Hongkong Full Court of Appeal, is leaving the Colony on Friday by the s.s. Carmarthenshire for Shanghai. He will be accompanied by Sir Henry Gollan, who will sit in the Full Court of Appeal in Shanghai. Sir Henry is expected to stay in Shanghai for about a fortnight.

HARBOUR ROBBERY CASE.

POLICE UNABLE TO PROCEED.

The charges preferred against a former engineer of the steam launch Wo Fat Shing, in connexion with the armed robbery committed on board the launch on October 12th last were withdrawn by the police, before Mr. W. Schofield at the Kowloon Magistrate's Court this morning.

Sub-Inspector Dorling, who prosecuted, informed his Worship that he had been instructed to withdraw the charges against the defendant.

Defendant was accordingly discharged. It will be remembered that at the previous hearing, the prosecution intimated that the Crown

NEW SCHOOL OPENED.

AN INTERESTING LINK WITH HONGKONG.

Situated at Billericay, Essex, midway between London and Westcliff-on-Sea, the official opening has recently taken place of St. John's School, the Principal of which is a son of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Higby, formerly of Hongkong. Special regard is to be given to the education of lads from overseas.

Dr. J. Douglas Wells, Medical Officer of Health for the Billericay district, performed the opening ceremony. This new building, with house attached, has been erected by the Principal (Mr. W. V. Higby, B.A. (Oxon.)), as a private school for boarders as well as day scholars. Situated in a pleasant spot within half a mile of the railway station, the school, which has accommodation for 100, stands in four acres of ground. There are three departments for boys and girls—senior, preparatory and kindergarten—carried on in five well-constructed classrooms, while provision has been made for extension when necessary. There are dormitories in the school house, where Mrs. Higby, wife of the Headmaster, will be responsible for the care of the boarders.

Mr. Higby presided at the opening ceremony, and his parents were amongst those present.

Importance of Education.

Commenting on the large number present for that ceremony, the Headmaster said their attendance indicated not only their interest in the school, but that they realized the importance of education and the duty which attached to parents to educate their children to the best of their ability. He proceeded to give an outline of the construction of the building and explained that one of his chief reasons for selecting that site was to obtain sufficient ground for sport adjacent to the school. The four acres available would be most useful for providing football and cricket pitches and tennis courts close at hand.

After dealing with the nature of the curriculum, he mentioned that once upon a time the early stages of education were not considered to be of much importance, but now they all knew that the right amount of education between the ages of five and 14 years was most important, because that was the time when character was formed. Furthermore, there was the importance of that loyalty and good citizenship which, for want of a better term, they called esprit de corps. As far as possible, he and the staff wished to lead their pupils into taking pride not only in being clever, but in becoming useful members of society. While the parents might not always see eye to eye with what was done at the school, he asked them to be patient and rest assured that the staff were doing all in their power to further the interests of the pupils. (Applause.)

The Right Spirit.

Dr. Douglas Wells declared that his interest in children of all ages had always been a tremendous one and he realized that education was the important thing for boys and girls up to the time of manhood and womanhood, when they could choose for themselves. Next to the parent, there was no more important man in the nation than the schoolmaster, because, along with the parent, he had in his hands the moulding of those who were sent under his care to be educated in that right spirit to which Mr. Higby had referred—the spirit which was going to keep that great country and Empire of theirs still the greatest empire the world ever saw. In those days, perhaps, more than before the war, there was a tremendous heritage for the children of this country. Education, if it were to be of any success, as the Headmaster had said, had to combine not only the learning which the boys and girls obtained from books, but that sense of discipline, that team spirit, that idea of playing the game and of unselfishness, which went to make up the real man and the real woman. If Mr. Higby continued as well as he had started, they could be quite sure of a fine and flourishing school in St. John's. (Applause.)

relied solely on the evidence of a man now serving a term of three years' hard labour in connexion with the affair. The convicted man, however, almost entirely contradicted a statement which he had previously made to the police, whose case according to Sub-Inspector Dorling had been "knocked on the head" as a consequence. On the suggestion of his Worship, the defendant was, at the last hearing, remanded for the prosecution to consider the position.

The Very Idea!

The Kiddies (in chorus)—"The Mayor of Chicago!"

Professor Willibald Richter is said to have the best musical memory in England. He has memorized 2,000 classical compositions.

When eight years old, Professor Richter gave his first piano recital. Liszt, the famous composer, then patted him on the head and made him his pupil. Professor Richter came to England in 1881, and was music master at Uppingham School until 1887. He is the father of Miss Lillian Rushworth, the singer.

The professor says that no great composer will arise in the present generation. "There is too much noise," he said, "too much hurry-scurry. A genius must develop his gifts in quiet and solitude. Beethoven was lucky because he became deaf. His best work was done while he was deaf."

Clerk at Willenden: Are you single? Woman: Yes, quite.

Man at Bow County Court: He sells racing tips, backs horses with the money, and loses it.

Barrister to an excited witness at Whitechapel: Is it true that— Witness: No.

Willenden man: I am too old to remember dates, and I am only here to speak the truth.

Counsel at Kingston: When the collision occurred, did the defendant say anything to you or to him? Motorist: I am afraid we did.

A resolution that the living wage proposal should be based on the needs of one person—the wage-earner—and that the family allowance scheme should include separate provision for the wife was discussed at a conference of the Welsh Divisional Independent Labour Party at Swansea.

Miss G. Cowles (Pontypridd), who made the proposition, contended that even the I.L.P. ignored the existence of the woman so far as the living wage was concerned.

"The dignity of the wife," she said, "is practically overlooked. When a woman marries, she becomes charwoman, washerwoman, housewife, and many other things. She did most of the work, and yet was least recognised."

Women, urged Miss Cowles, would never take their proper place in public life until they had secured a position of independence. The proposal was defeated.

Chemist (to his stout wife)—"Don't come into the shop for a minute. I am trying to sell six bottles of my fat-reducing mixture."

Mr. A. H. Russell, headmaster of East Bristol Central School, in a lecture to teachers of the National Gregg Association (London section), said that in five or ten seconds any one should be able, without writing, to—

Tell the cost of 7 cwts. at 1/4d. per pound.

Find the cube root of 42,508,549. Divide 68,372,594 by 61.

Mr. Russell made his audience gasp by instantly writing on the blackboard the answer to such sums as 843,769 multiplied by 4,738.

"All lightning calculating," said Mr. Russell, "must come by adopting new methods in the fundamentals."

A gang of labourers were at work on a new road, but one of them lacked enthusiasm for his job, and made little attempt to work.

When the Attorney General (Sir Joseph Horford Kemp) goes on leave shortly, the Hon. Sir Henry Pollock will not in his place. This will create a vacancy on the Legislative Council, for which it is understood, two names are likely to be proposed.

MORTGAGE APPEAL HEARING.COUNSEL CONTENTS INFANCY NO EXCUSE.*JUDGMENT DEFENDED.

The mortgage case appeal was continued in the Full Court of Appeal this morning, when Mr. F. C. Jenkin commenced his address on behalf of the respondents.

The appellants are Loo Kwong-lam and Loo Kwong-hin, both of 67, Caine Road, and the respondents are Li Koon-chun and Woo Fat Shing, both of 81, Wing Lok Street, and Kan Tong-po, chief manager of the Bank of East Asia. The appeal is against a judgment delivered by Mr. Justice Wood in an action brought for the setting aside of a mortgage.

Mr. Eldon Potter, K.C., and Mr. H. G. Sheldon are for the appellants.

The case was commenced last Wednesday morning and was continued on Thursday, when Mr. Potter's arguments were heard.

Equitable Relief.

Mr. Jenkin said he would argue that the judgment as delivered by Mr. Justice Wood was right in law and was well warranted on the evidence.

Mr. Jenkin said, the first point he would take, which was, however, not now in dispute but was argued in the Court below, was that by executing the action the plaintiffs were seeking equitable relief. His submission would be that the plaintiffs, seeking equity, could not have relief except upon terms that they put the mortgages back into the position in which they originally were.

Infancy No Excuse.

With regard to the fraud, where it was alleged that the appellants had induced the respondents to become parties to the mortgage by falsely representing themselves to be 21 years of age or over, Mr. Jenkin quoted authorities which stated "an infant shall not take advantage of his own wrong, and infancy shall be no excuse."

Mr. Jenkin commented that infancy never authorised fraud and if an infant induced persons to deal with him by a false representation of age, he was bound by payments made and acts done. He was bound to restore money as well as property.

Mr. Jenkin contended, on an authority, that it was held that a fraudulent mortgage could not be repudiated. Applying that to the present case, if fraud had been proved or admitted by the plaintiffs, then the Court of equity would make an order which Mr. Justice Wood had said could not be made.

Bound as Though Adult.

From the judgment of another authority, Mr. Jenkin said it seemed to be taken almost as an established fact, or incapable of argument, that where an infant plaintiff was fraudulent, there was nothing more to be said about it, and his equity would then quite clearly rule against him. With regard to another case of equity, it was stated that if there was a fraudulent representation of age and the Court could not restore the parties to their original footing, then the infant was bound as though he were an adult.

Mr. Jenkin commented that if a plaintiff came into Court, as the plaintiffs in the present action undoubtedly had, then the principle applied against them.

Mr. Jenkin contended that it was clearly recognised by the authorities he had quoted that where a plaintiff was a fraudulent infant he must be put on terms, and only by being so put on terms, could he get relief of any kind.

The case is proceeding.

JAPANESE CRUISER.MODERN BOAT NOW IN PORT.

The Japanese cruiser Oh-I, now in port, after a long cruise during which she visited Singapore and Saigon, is one of a series of six craft of which the construction was immediately put in hand after the Great War.

Built at Kawasaki yards, and put into service in 1920, the Oh-I is approximately 530 feet in length, 47 feet in width, and has a draft of about 20 feet. Her yacht-like bow and slim appearance have been designed with a view to giving her a maximum speed, 33 knots being attained on turbine engines. Three smoke stacks and a light tripod mast forward are other distinctive features of this cruiser.

Armament appears to have been sacrificed in the Oh-I class for speed, this having been reduced to four guns mounted on twin turrets forward and three guns aft. There are also two anti-aircraft guns and 8 torpedo-tubes.

LOCAL WEDDING.POLICE INSPECTOR MARRIED TO-DAY.

An interesting wedding took place at the Union Church, Kowloon, this afternoon, when Sub-Inspector James Cargill, of the Hongkong Police Force, was married to Miss Isabel Keith Wallace. The bridegroom is a son of Mr. and Mrs. Cargill, of Letham, Forfar, Scotland, while the bride is the eldest daughter of Mr. James Wallace, of Lochgelly, Fifeshire, and a niece of Mr. and Mrs. R. A. Ramsay, Albion Terrace, Kowloon Docks. The Rev. J. Horace Johnston officiated at the ceremony, which was attended by a large number of guests.

The bride, who was given away by her uncle, was attired in a white satin gown, with over-dress of georgette and silver lace, and she also wore a tulle embroidered veil with wreath of orange blossom and white heather. She carried a bouquet of pink and white roses and maidenhair fern, with pink tulle streamers.

Miss Middleton was the bridesmaid, and she wore a dress of pink georgette and silver tissue, with beige satin hat and trimmings to match. Her bouquet was of pink and white larkspurs with mauve streamers.

The bride's aunt was attired in a dress of brown satin, with trimmings of nigger brown lace and fawn and nigger brown hat to match.

Mr. O'Connor was the "best man," whilst Mr. Brearly was at the organ.

After the wedding, a reception was held at the Kingsclere Hotel, Kowloon, and the happy couple later left for their honeymoon, the bride's going-away dress being of champagne crepe de chine silk, with over-dress of white nylon figured with flowers to match her dress, and ermine hat and chapeauise satin coat.

ABSURD LABOUR ACCUSATION.JAPANESE ACCUSED OF WRECKING SHIP.

Introducing something original in questions of labour agitation, workers of the Nikka cotton mill, a Japanese concern at Pootung, Shanghai, have protested against the sinking of the Chinese steamer Hsin Tai Ming by the Japanese steamer Atsuta Maru, near Chinkiang, recently, when 300 Chinese passengers lost their lives.

About 40 workers met at a special meeting and were addressed by a leading member of the Labour Union, who went boldly at his job and made the accusation that the "Japanese imperialists had again intentionally wrecked a Chinese steamer and caused the loss of 300 lives."

As a result of the meeting, it was decided to lodge a protest with the Minister of Foreign Affairs, and to give the setting proper labour colour, it was also decided to ask the Nikka cotton mill management to allocate part of the workers' quarters as union headquarters.

"If every woman and every girl in this country were to give to the Tavistocksquare Clinic for functional nervous disorders the amount of money that they gave on each half-inch reduction in the length of their skirts, the 1,000 additional pounds for current expenses would be easily raised." Viscount Lascelles thus showed at the Festival dinner how easy it would be for the clinic to be placed on a satisfactory financial basis.

H.E.'S VISIT TO CANTON.CHINESE COUNCIL MEMBERS IN PARTY.*REVISED PROGRAMME.

Revised arrangements for His Excellency the Governor's official visit to Canton, have been announced. Lady Clementi, together with one of His Excellency's A.D.C.'s, Capt. Perfect, and the two Chinese members of the Hongkong Legislative Council, will leave Hongkong on the day steamer on Thursday, March 8th, and His Excellency the Governor, with the Hon. Mr. E. R. Hallifax, C.M.G., and His Excellency's A.D.C., Capt. Whyte, and Private Secretary, Capt. Forster, will go up in two gunboats, H.M.S. Tarantula and H.M.S. Cicula, on Thursday night, reaching Canton early on Friday morning. The official landing will be at 10.30, at the Canton Government Pier.

Later, a reception will be held at Government Headquarters, and lunch will be taken at the British Consulate at Shameen. The afternoon will be spent in sight-seeing, and in the evening His Excellency the Governor will be present at a formal banquet at which Marshal Li Chai-sum will be the host. The guests will include ladies. At the dinner, it is expected that Marshal Li will make a speech, to which His Excellency the Governor will reply in Chinese.

On Saturday, His Excellency and party will have lunch with the Mayor of Canton and he will be the guest at dinner in the evening of the Chamber of Commerce. On Saturday morning, there will probably be an official conference, and on Sunday morning His Excellency the Governor and party will board the Tarantula at 10 o'clock and leave for Hongkong.

ST. GEORGE'S SOCIETY.ANNUAL REPORT OF THE COMMITTEE.

The report of the Committee of the Society of St. George, Hongkong, to be presented at the eleventh annual general meeting, to be held in the office of the Hongkong Jockey Club, on the ground floor of the Hongkong Club Annex, on Friday, at 5.30 p.m., states:

Your Committee has pleasure in presenting to you the report and statement of accounts for the year ending 31st December, 1927. The cash balance in hand stands at $1,351.72, including $492.52 from the Magazine Fund, and in addition, the sum of $3,000 is on Fixed Deposit.

During the year numerous calls have been made on the Society for assistance and grants to the sum of $1,588.25 have been given.

On St. George's Day a wreath was laid on the Cenotaph and later a tiffin held at the Hongkong Hotel. A cinema show was also held at the Queen's Theatre for the entertainment of soldiers, sailors and airmen. A wreath was also laid on the Cenotaph on Armistice Day.

During the year, 30 new Members joined the Society. The accounts have been audited by Messrs. Love, Bingham and Matthews to whom our thanks are due.

The death has occurred of Councillor W. B. Thompson, the Mayor of Gravesend, at the age of 75. Mr. Thompson was a retired Civil Servant, and for 20 years served on the Gillingham Council before going to Gravesend.

THEOSOPHY'S AIMS.MR. RUSSELL ADDRESSES LOCAL LODGE.

At last evening's public meeting of the Hongkong Lodge of the Theosophical Society, Mr. John Russell gave an address on "Revelation and Theosophy." He said that in Theosophy one found a revelation which included all that was essential in the great religions, past and present, and thus brought together the essential contributions of the East and the West in a bond of Brotherhood, which nothing should separate. Theosophy vastly added to and deepened the popular presentation of all religious teachings of East and West, by lifting the veil from the deeper teachings and the vast store of occult knowledge which throughout the centuries were closely guarded and kept from reach of the masses.

It was sometimes said that Theosophy provided an answer for all the problems of life. Theosophy indeed explained the difficulties of life and filled the cup which we brought to be filled. The revelation which Theosophy had brought was not only a revelation in the form of a teaching, in the form of a philosophy; it was also the placing before all of an ideal of perfection, an ideal seen beyond and outside ourselves as well as an ideal within us, ever urging us to discover the great reality within, that Kingdom of Happiness which we enter by knowing and living in our true nature.

We should take full advantage of the knowledge of our greater self as revealed to us through Theosophy and help the world by the divine power of thought to reach that perfection which was the goal and end of all. To those who prepared themselves to receive it, Theosophy gave such revelation, such a glimpse of the eternal and real, that one could scarcely realise the tremendous effect it had in changing our whole outlook upon life.

Let them study and live the God Wisdom which mightily and sweetly ordereth all things, and thus help a weary and troubled world to enter lasting peace, in World Brotherhood, through the realisation of its unity and the knowledge of the greater divine self within all men. To lead the world to this higher stage in evolution, and to point out the path of divine perfection, open to all those who aspire, of whatever race and creed—therein lay the divine message and great revelation of Theosophy to the world to-day.

FAMILY SHOT IN BED.BANKER VICTIM OF BOURSE BLACK FRIDAY.

The editor of the principal newspaper in Gotha, the Gothaer Tageblatt, recently received the following letter:

To-night Droste, the banker, ended a labourious and earnest life by voluntary death and took his family with him to a better world.

Thus there is again a victim of the false economic policy of Scharht (president of the Reichsbank) and that Black Friday on the Stock Exchange which deprived many capitalists of their property. The payment of creditors is provided for in the will.

A visit to the banker's house showed that he had shot his wife and his three children, aged 2, 4, and 6, while they were in bed, and then shot himself standing before his wife's body.

The customers of his bank were mostly country people and small tradespeople, and it is feared that they will lose heavily.

WHAMPOA CADET COLLEGE.FIVE HUNDRED STUDENTS LEAVE FOR NANKING.*ORGANISATION PLAN.

The report that the Whampoa Cadet College is to be re-organised has been confirmed.

Some time ago, Marshal Chiang Kai-shek, leader of the Nanking Nationalist Government, sent a delegate to Canton to negotiate with Marshal Li Chai-sum to transfer the students of the College to Nanking, at which place a new military College will soon be opened. It is reported that a few days ago Marshal Li consented to Chiang Kai-shek's proposal and on Thursday 500 students of the College left by steamer for the North. It is learned that most of them are natives of Northern provinces, not Cantonese.

The Whampoa Cadet College is now to be reorganised and renamed the Military Academy of the Two Kwangs, and Marshal Li Chai-sum will become its Principal.

It appears that new instructors are to be secured for the new Academy, for in his letter to Marshal Li Chai-sum, Marshal Chiang Kai-shek made clear his desire that all the old instructors of the Whampoa Cadet College should accompany the students to Nanking, adding that those who failed to go to Nanking within a certain period would be dismissed from service.

An unofficial report states that Marshal Li Chai-sum has resolved to ask Mr. Li King-yeung to look after the affairs of the new Academy at Whampoa.

HOW MUCH DO YOU KNOW?TO-DAY'S QUESTIONS.

The following general knowledge paper has been taken from the Daily Express.

Answers, for those who need them, will be found on Page 14 of this issue.

1. What historic relic has just been found in a cottage hospital?
2. Where is there a newspaper which contains articles in five different languages?
3. What and where in Krakatoa?
4. How does a yachtsman "scandalise the mainsail"?
5. What is the difference between a crow and a rook?
6. Who was the first Thomas Hardy whose memorial is in Westminster Abbey?
7. What, according to the Registrar-General, is the healthiest of occupations?
8. How many cinemas are there in the County of London, and what is the weekly total of their visitors?
9. What alterations mark the pennies bearing the date 1928?
10. What are Serap Biblos, and who was responsible for their existence?
11. What is the oldest European war relic in the Imperial War Museum?
12. Where are footprints used instead of finger-prints for the identification of criminals?

A German railway truck, supposed to contain sulphuric acid, which was being sent from Berlin to Russia, exploded at the railway station of Rzeszow, Poland. Pieces of the iron containers were hurled 600 feet in the air. According to one account, it is suspected that the barrels, instead of containing an ordinary commercial chemical substance, were full of the most dangerous high explosives.

SHIELD SEMI-FINAL STRUGGLE.

KOWLOON & CLUB TWO HOUR FIGHT.

CLEVER FORWARDS HELD BY VIGOROUS CLUB DEFENCE.

[By "Wanderer"]

What share the boisterous wind played on local football on Saturday, it is difficult to estimate, but in no match did the expected happen, while both Junior Shield semi-finals resulted in surprise victories.

The great match, of course, was the Senior Shield semi-final between the H.K.F.C. and Kowloon. The sides fought for nearly two hours without achieving a definite result, and a replay is necessary.

The match was excellent in its way. Fought out in the typical cup-tie spirit at a fast pace throughout, there were constant thrills, and if Kowloon were a trifle unfortunate not to gain the day, the Club must be congratulated on a fine defensive display against a lively forward line.

The League match between the K.O.S.B. and the R.A.F. was drawn after a great struggle. The results are appended:

STEWART'S GREAT GOAL.

Kowloon Fail to Win After Scoring First.

Even the stimulus of the first goal failed to give Kowloon victory in the keenly-contested Shield semi-final on Saturday. The wind played all kinds of tricks with the ball, clever football was almost out of the question, and in these circumstances the undoubtedly superior forward skill of Kowloon was to a big extent nullified.

It was, however, a game of thrills, a hot pace being maintained for the greater part of the game, and if the Club defence tired under the hard work continually forced upon them, they must be congratulated on hanging out until the end. Black and Bishop deserve particular praise for the way they hung on to Northey, the ever-dangerous Kowloon centre-forward.

He gave a glimpse of his remarkable opportunism twenty minutes after the start. Between the time he received a long pass from Muir and drove hard into the net there was scarcely a moment's breathing space, and even had the Club defence not been appealing for outside help they would have had no chance of holding him out.

The equaliser when it came was a great goal, though it had a measure of luck about it. The Club forced a corner and the ball was carried by the wind to Stewart who headed past Angus from at least twelve yards' range at a terrific pace. It literally flew into the top right hand corner of the net and Angus had no chance.

Both sides missed other chances. Simpson had a glorious opportunity of giving the Club the lead soon after the second half had begun. He received about two yards out but shot weakly. Miles had a gift in the first half, but his shot also was misplaced.

The Club were dangerous when they broke away, but, generally speaking, the Kowloon defence in the second half held their own comfortably. Wheeler and Dodson were a superb pair of backs, while the halfbacks Hedley, Sims and McKelvie were a dominant factor. Hedley's tussles with Simpson usually ended in the Kowloon player's favour, despite of his comparably slight build, while Sims and McKelvie exercised wonderful judgment in defence and attack.

The centre-half's delightful forward passes kept the Kowloon forwards on the move almost constantly. They were a clever line, the right wing showing up brilliantly in well-executed movements. Watson had a giant task in trying to hold them, but he received splendid support from Bishop.

Kernick gave his best display of the season. Had he had any luck he must have won the game for his side, but when the ball came to him in the goal area, he was usually busted off by the vigorous Club defence. In midfield he led them in a merry dance, dribbling delightfully and plying Duncan with perfect passes.

On the left, Kowloon were not so prominent, both Muir and Miles suffering from injuries early in the game. Muir was always an effective force, however; he worried the Club defenders constantly, and he was always waiting to slip the ball to Northey. One shot of his in the second half almost caught Rodger napping.

Scott was the best of the Club forwards until he was badly shaken in a collision with his club-mate, Taylor, but the line was not nearly so impressive as the opposition. They were quick on the move and shot at every conceivable opportunity, but their movements were not well constructed.

Stewart played a wonderful game at centre-half for the Club. Hard-worked and always faced with the necessity of keeping a close eye on the elusive Northey, he still found the energy to force the play forward, while his goal was perfect in its accomplishment, if Fortune was favourable in the manner in which the ball came to him.

In the last twenty minutes, and in the extra time, Kowloon enjoyed almost entire territorial advantage, and the Club goal had miraculous escapes. The Club were occasionally dangerous by exploiting their speedy wingers, but Wheeler and Dodson had both coolness and understanding and only once was Angus seriously troubled, a long shot by Scott giving him an opportunity of bringing off a glorious save.

Kowloon's superior team work gave them the balance of play. The forwards worked with good understanding and the defence did yeoman service throughout.

The Club defence was conspicuous for the keenness of its tackling. Occasionally they were inclined to be vigorous and none of the Kowloon forwards escaped without bruises, but this is the spirit of cup-tie football, and there were few complaints.

A word should be said for the magnificent display of Black, who proved himself a back of cool judgment in spite of the wear of years. He fully justified his position in the side; indeed, there were times when he made the youngsters look foolish by the calmness with which he deprived them of possession. Bishop displayed great activity in tackling; his judgment was rarely at loss, and his kicking in a difficult wind excellent.

Both defences may be said to have played exceedingly well, while Kowloon's forwards were a much better line than that of the opposition. If Kowloon had essayed to shoot a little more frequently they would probably have won. The extra time was not nearly so interesting. Both teams were tired after a gruelling struggle and the ball was continually out of play.

K.O.S.B. RESERVES OUT.

Chinese Athletic and St. Joseph's For Final.

Chinese Athletic and St. Joseph's qualified for the final of the Junior Shield Competition, both sides bringing off surprises. St. Joseph's have proved to be the first side to inflict defeat on the K.O.S.B. Reserves since the battalion arrived in the Colony. Assisted by a strong wind in the first half they held a lead of two goals at the interval. The Borderers pressed hard after the interval, but only once met with reward.

On the Club ground an almost similar state of affairs existed. The Chinese Athletic, twice defeated by Kowloon in the Junior League, gained an interval lead of two goals playing with the wind. In the second half, they concentrated on defence and there were exciting times round the Athletic goal, Kowloon, however, failing to secure the satisfaction of a single goal.

Borderers Draw Again.

The K.O.S.B. have drawn more games, I believe, speaking from memory, than any other side in the Senior League. The match with the R.A.F. resulted in a sharing of the points, though the Borderers were hard put to it to equalise after Birch had given the Airman the lead in the first half.

The Borderers were more methodical than the opposition, but the R.A.F. put up a capital defence. It was very near to the final whistle when Campbell burst through and scored a capital equaliser.

"MACBETH" IN MODERN GARB.

NEW PRODUCTION IN LONDON.

London, Feb. 7.

"Macbeth" in khaki with a conventional toothbrush and military moustache and Lady Macbeth in short skirts and silk stockings was witnessed last evening at the "Royal Court" Theatre when Sir Larry Jackson produced the tragedy up-to-date (including a whisky decanter, soda siphon and professional music before this happy scene).

The shouts of the crowds and the noise of artillery and machine guns were rendered by a gramophone, the only suggestion of antiquity being the three witches. The modern version was well received, though the storming of Macbeth's Castle by steel-helmeted and khaki-clad warriors firing rifles moved the audience to unrestrained laughter.

The Bishop of Marseilles, Monsiegnur Champavier, has died at the age of 61 after a short illness. He was appointed in 1923.

tained four class rooms, on the site of the existing Vernacular Middle School, a spot which had been used hitherto as a rubbish heap, or in local parlance—Lap Sze Tan. Mr. Fung retained the Headmastership for a further period of 12 years, until 1903, when he retired on pension. Mr. Fung is with us to-day, hale and hearty, and a witness to the fruit of his pioneering. Mr. W. H. Williams succeeded to the Headship in the same year, and remained at Salyngpan until 1905, when he was transferred to the Victoria British School which came into being at this time. My tenure of office dates from June of that year.

The following figures are instructive and illuminating:—For 1905 the average attendance was 61.6 and fees amounted to $764; for 1906, average attendance 92.1 and fees $1,907; for 1907, average attendance 216.0 and fees $4,496; for 1908, average attendance 296.9 and fees $6,704.

Building Enlarged.
The success of the school being now assured—at one time it was proposed to close it down—the building was enlarged by the addition of six new class rooms; fees were increased to $3 a month, and classes were limited to 40. Even these additions, amendments, and restrictions proved inadequate, and it is no exaggeration to say that each succeeding year scores of would-be students were refused admission.

The year 1909 which marks the apex of attendance in the old building, saw the addition of two more sheds to the class-room accommodation, and although intended for temporary use they served for teaching purposes for a period of 16 years. In that year, the average attendance reached 403.0, and fees for the same period totalled $9,152. Thus, in the brief space of four years, numbers had increased eight-fold.

Yet another phase dates from this year. The transfer of Mrs. Morris from the post of Headmistress at Victoria British School to Salyngpan in September, 1909, marked a new era, not only in the history of Salyngpan School, but in the education of Chinese boys in Government Schools in Hongkong, for Mrs. Morris is the pioneer lady teacher. Lord Lugard, then Sir Frederick Lugard, speaking of this innovation, i.e. the introduction of lady teachers into boys' schools, said: "I am sincerely glad to hear from the Director of Education that the experiment has proved a success."

Lady Teachers.
The experiment was extended to Queen's College and the other Government Schools, and to-day each counts one or more lady teachers on its staff.

Speaking with inside knowledge of the good foundations laid by Mrs. Morris in the lower classes, I would be failing in my conception of the debt we owe her, if I did not acknowledge that the measure of success attained at Salyngpan was due very largely to her loyal co-operation, indefatigable support, influence for good, and above all her sacrifice, in all that appertained to the well being of the school.

Sixteen years teaching in a matched savours more of India than Hongkong, and might be the title of a book dealing with the progress and development of Educational practice in Hongkong. The year 1910 marks yet another advance in the staffing arrangements, for at this time the first English Assistant Master was appointed.

In 1914 plans were prepared for the further extension and rebuilding of the school, and the temporary transfer of pupils and staff to Ellis Kadoorie School during the reconstruction, but the conditional promise of the late Sir Ellis Kadoorie to present that building to the Government and the subsequent fulfilment of that promise deferred the development of Salyngpan School, a delay which has been more than compensated for in this present structure.

Need For New Building.

One of the earliest references to an entirely new building is contained in the answer to a question put by Sir Henry Pollock at the introduction of the budget on October 24th, 1917. In reply, H.E. the late Sir Henry May recognized the necessity of providing a new building on a new site.

The following year on October 18th, 1918, the late Mr. P. H. Holyoak in his Budget speech referred to the disadvantages and inadequacy of the old building and pressed for a new one, and his remarks were endorsed by the late Mr. Ho Fook and the late Mr. Chan Kai-ming, the two Chinese representatives on the Legislative Council at that time. Sir Claud Severn, in reply, held out hopes of removal to a larger and better site, but it was not until 1921 that the Director of Public Works stated in the Legislative Council in reply to Mr. A. O. Lang that an exchange of land was being negotiated. This exchange was carried through, and in 1923 work on the foundations and retaining walls was started. In April 1924 the contract for the superstructure was let.

As an earlier period, I had been requested to state the requirements of this new school, and the existing building embodied most of these requirements. In the statement I endeavoured to provide for a model school, and how far the Government has complied you can best judge by an inspection of the premises. There were conferences in which the late Director of Education took part, but the design and drawings were the work of Mr. Dawbarn, whose plans have since been selected from amongst many competitors for the new Raffles College at Singapore.

Main Features.

To enumerate briefly the main features of this building, King's College contains 29 class rooms, a physics laboratory, a chemistry laboratory, library and museum, art room, gymnasium, great hall, cinema projecting room, workshop, covered playground, photograph room, swimming pool with sand filter and the storage tank; lavatories and cloak rooms on each floor; staff rooms, Headmaster's and Clerk's offices and sanitary arrangements of the latest and most approved type. The equipment is not yet complete. The gymnasium and workshop need apparatus, which it is hoped to provide this year.

I wish to remind our many Chinese friends and patrons, that while a benevolent and paternal Government provides for the running expenses of this institution, there is much that they can do to show their appreciation and recognition of the facilities provided for in this building for the education of the rising generation. The boards upon these walls indicate that a few scholarships have been endowed; more and yet more are required, and while I am diffident of enumerating all our needs in detail, I will be most happy and willing to state them to any who are interested.

Mr. Fung Ping Shan has promised to equip the Chinese section of the Library, while from other benefactors, donations have been received, certain of which have been expended on the English side of the Library. A gift which is highly appreciated is the latest edition of the Encyclopedia Britannica, the gift of Mr. H. W. Ray, manager of the Hongkong Amusement Co., and a former Assistant Master at Salyngpan School.

A Super-Building.

In conclusion, the Government and the Colony generally are to be congratulated on possessing, such a super-building, a building with scarcely an equal anywhere. The Duke of York School at Dover, the latest and most up-to-date of the Army Schools, is deficient in many of the features embodied here and surpasses this College only in respect of its playing grounds of which there is a real and urgent need in Hongkong.

A school which has accommodation for 900 students should be considered by the Recreation Ground Committee when allotments are made. While there appears to be no hope of amelioration in the immediate future, an eye must be kept on the possibilities of laying out a Football Recreation ground at Pokfulam or even as far afield as Aberdeen, which locality is served by buses and launches, and is accessible.

The Siamese Prince who went over the school in December, 1926, was much impressed with what he saw, and like the Queen of Sheba who after viewing the Temple at Jerusalem was constrained to say "The half has not been told."

The students too are to be congratulated on being permitted to attend such a fine school, replete with all necessities and comforts. Here I would add a word of warning and exhortation to guardians and pupils:—The unswerving loyalty of all is demanded—loyalty to the Government and the school—and it is sincerely hoped that no-one will, through any ill-considered act or advice, bring discredit upon the escutcheon of King's College.

Patrons and Donors.

His Excellency then followed with an address, which was being delivered as we went to press. Amongst a large number of patrons and donors are the following:—Sir Robert Ho Tung, one scholarship; Mr. Chan Pek-chun, one scholarship; Mr. Chan Shek-shan (deceased), one scholarship; Mr. Woo Hay-tong, a guaranteed income of $1,000 per annum for scholarships and other purposes, also Donation $25; Mr. Ho Kom-tong, $1,000. Endowment of Scholarship, Alfred Morris, also doubled the value of the Ralph and Ho Kom-tong Scholarships; Mr. Hu Cheong, $1,500 Endowment of Scholarship; Mrs. Chan Shek-shan, $900 donation, and cost of one portrait in oils of the late Mr. Chan Shek-shan; Mr. Tsang Pok-ki, $450, cost of school badge in enamel (executed by Messrs. Maplin and Webb); Mr. Fung Ping-shan, Chinese books for the Library; Mr. H. W. Ray, $300, cost of new edition "Encyclopaedia Britannica."

FANLING STEEPLE-CHASE.

LARGE CROWD AT SPRING MEETING.

Favoured with glorious sunshine the spring steeplechase meeting of the Fanling Hunt attracted an unusually large crowd. It was an ideal day and no doubt many who proceeded to Kwai Tung as far as the day's outing as for the sport provided.

The racing was interesting throughout, and the public on the whole gauged the form pretty accurately. The defeat of Easter Day by San Diego came as no surprise following the latter pony's recent improvement in flat racing. Messrs. Reidy and Shillington secured two wins each, and Mr. Usher and Mr. Potts annexed the honours in the remaining two races.

The biggest disappointment was the accident to Caviro in the fourth race. Mr. Bullock was in the saddle and the pony was made hot favourite. Mr. Bullock had the misfortune to be unseated whilst running on flat ground just before the last hurdle. He was then in the lead and the "spill" was keen disappointment to the supporters of Caviro.

RIFLE LEAGUE.

CHAMPIONSHIP CONTEST AT KOWLOON.

Some good shooting was seen at the Kowloon Rifle Range on Saturday and Sunday when the championship rifle meeting under the auspices of the Hongkong Rifle League was held. That this meeting proved extremely attractive to the service men is evidenced by the fact that nearly all the competitors, totalling 620, were nearly all members of the forces. On Saturday the entrants numbered 240, this being increased by 40 for yesterday's competitions.

The work of organisation has resulted in a great amount of work falling on the shoulders of the committee and the indefatigable secretary, and it is to their credit that, in spite of the almost overwhelming number of competitors, the events were fired off without a hitch and in a time saving manner. The committee responsible for the meeting was Capt. West, R.M., Lt. Coghill, Lt. Denton, Lt. Mattingly, and Mr. Goodman. The duties of secretary were discharged by Mr. C. H. Summers. The Hon. Mr. D. G. M. Barnard is the President of the League.

Included among the competitors was a team from the Portuguese Company of the H.K.V.D.C., who fired on both days, while the Scottish Company also competed yesterday.

This year no silver cups were awarded but, instead, the prizes took the form of money, being percentages of the entrance fees. By this means numerous prizes were awarded. On Saturday two events were decided these being Championship of the United Services and the Rifle Team Championship. Both these events were fired in conjunction with each other. They were open to members of the Navy, Army, Hongkong Police, and the Volunteers. The targets were "King's First Stage" (Bisley 1927), Distances, 200, 600, and 800 yards. Two practice shots and seven counting shots at each distance. Rifles as issued, without aperture sights or slings. No time limit.

The results of the Championship of the United Services were:

200 600 800 Yds.

Yesterday's events were commenced with a Musketry Competition, open to teams of eight, any number of teams being allowed from each unit. Targets were "King's First Stage" of two sighters. At 300 yards 15 rounds rapid in one minute and ten rounds snip shooting at the same distance with 22" Weir target, three seconds exposure irregularly spread over two minutes.

In conjunction and concurrently was fired the Individual Musketry Competition with the same conditions and open to any individual.

The team competition resulted as follows:—1. Queen's Royal Regiment ("A" team (622); 2. Queen's Royal Regiment ("B" team (470); 3. H.M.S. Argus ("A" team (462).

Individual:—1. Mr. Chandler, H.M.S. Carlisle (88); 2. Sgt. Barham, K.O.S.B. (79); 3. Mr. Barber, H.M.S. Argus (77).

The title competition drew no fewer than 27 teams from many different units. The distances were 300 and 200 yards, 15 rounds, and a time limit of 1 min. 30 secs. Targets were iron plates which fell on being hit, the winners being the team knocking over their tiles in the shortest time. Results:—1. Scots Guards ("C" team (55 secs); 2. Scots Guards ("B" team (1 min. 14 secs).

The seventh event was an attack competition for teams. Distances were 400 to 100 yards, 15 rounds per firer, and targets, figure two silhouette. The shooters commenced at 400 yards and fired five rounds lying, advanced 200 yards and fired five rounds kneeling, again advanced 100 yards and fired five rounds standing.

Results:—1. Scots Guards, Headquarters Wing (60); 2. 1st. Guards Regiment (68); 3. H.M.S. Argus (66).

The Revolver Pool, being daily shoots open to all comers, entries unlimited, the prize being 20 cents per shot, pistols and ammunition supplied, provided some good sport on both days.

Saturday's results were:—1. Cpl. Willott (30); 2. A/B Rigby, H.M.S. Clifft. Third place was tied for between C.P.O. Cann, H.M.S. Marston and Mr. Chandler, both of whom scored 31.

Second day:—A/B Rigby (42); 2. Mr. Chandler 40.

Thanks are extended to the following for donations to the prize fund: The Hon. Mr. D.G.M. Barnard, Mr. R. M. Dyer, Mr. K. E. Greig, Hon. Mr. A. C. Hyman, Mr. N. S. Brown, and Mr. F. R. Marsh.

LOCAL CRICKET.

CLOSE STRUGGLE BETWEEN UNIVERSITY & KOWLOON.

There is a great struggle going on for the championship of the first division of the cricket league between the University and the Kowloon C.C. The former completed their League programme on Saturday, when they met and defeated the Navy in a low-scoring match by 34 runs.

Kowloon C.C. easily accounted for the Chinese R.C., winning by ten wickets, after getting the visitors out for the moderate score of 92. They are now five points behind the University with two more matches to play—Civil Service and Indian R.C. "B." If they win both, they will retain the shield.

DIVISION I.

University Beat the Navy at King's Park.

The University paid a visit to King's Park, where they met the Navy in their last League match. It was important that they should win if they are to stand a chance of securing the championship of the first division, and they did not disappoint their supporters, although at one time it looked as if they might be in for a severe defeat. The fine bowling of A. A. Rumjahn and keen fielding were responsible for giving them victory in a low-scoring match by 34 runs.

The University batted first and made a very poor opening. Five wickets were down with only 28 runs on the board. Gutierrez (23) improved matters somewhat, but the side were all out for the moderate total of 88. It was felt that the Navy would not have much difficulty in passing this total, but they found runs just as hard to get as their opponents. They started fairly well, but when Rumjahn went on as second change, wickets began to fall rapidly.

MORE TOURISTS.

DUE ON FRIDAY BY THE CALEDONIA.

Due here on the early morning of Friday, March 3, the Caledonia, a 17,000 ton new oil-burner of the Cunard and Anchor line, which is chartered specially by Clark for his eighth world cruise, carries 400 tourists.

The Caledonia will stay two days in Hongkong, sailing from here at 3 p.m. on March 11. Her spacious public rooms, decks, elevator and latest improvements on modern lines, coupled with the vessel's size, speed, safety and luxurious appointments, makes her perfectly adapted for ideal world travel.

Since the world war, Mr. Clark has organised a series of cruises. He inaugurated the campaign in 1922 by two great Mediterranean cruises. This, followed by two simultaneous cruises of the Orient, a task never before undertaken by any tourist company, aroused the wonder and admiration of travellers all the world over.

The extraordinary success of Clark's previous cruises and the popular demand of the American people brought about another unparalleled result, namely, the complete booking up of both these cruises within eight weeks of their public announcement.

Annually since 1923, Clark's Around the World and Mediterranean cruises have been phenomenal successes and for this year, he has chartered the Cunard and Anchor Line's new oil-burner, Caledonia. The cruise offers many attractions, viz, Hilo, the volcano of Kilauea, Shanghai, Jerusalem, Athens and Monte Carlo, besides the usual around the world places like Panama Canal, Japan, China, Java, India, Egypt, etc.

WEDDING BELLS.

SHANGHAI MAN MARRIES IN HONGKONG.

The wedding took place at St. John's Cathedral on Saturday, of Mr. Leonard Warren of Messrs. Lever Bros (China) Limited, of Shanghai, to Miss Hilda Mary Leach, of 55 Glasgow Road, Cambridge, who arrived in the Colony on Tuesday by the P. and O. s.s. Mongolia.

The Very Revd. Alfred Swann officiated, and Mr. B. L. Seldon Winton performed the services of best man. The bride, who was given away by Mr. H. A. Pearson, was charmingly attired in a beige over pink georgette frock, trimmed with lace, with a georgette and lace coat trimmed with fur collar and hat with a cluster of dainty flowers at one side.

After the ceremony at the church, a reception was given at the Hongkong Hotel, and later Mr. and Mrs. Warren left for Repulse Bay, where the honeymoon is being spent.

Mr. and Mrs. Warren will be leaving for Shanghai by the President McKinley on Wednesday.

SERVICES RUGBY.

THE ARMY BEAT THE NAVY.

London, March 3. H. M. the King attended at Twickenham for the second Saturday in succession, on the occasion of the Inter-Services Rugby match, which was played in glorious weather before an attendance of 12,000 spectators. The Army beat the Navy by 11 points to 5.—Reuter.

THE METAL BOX

By THOMAS COBB.

(Author of "Pulse Preference," "Mrs. Darnley's Reputation," etc.)

CHAPTER I.

Theresa.

Foster Markwell was destined to experience several surprises before he had finished with the black metal box which Miss Croom placed so mysteriously in his hands, but none more astounding than the suspicion that Theresa was aware of its contents.

Not only had she in some unimaginable way discovered what these were, but, inconceivable as it at first appeared, there could be little doubt that she was doing her utmost to obtain possession of them. Foster could not have told the precise moment when suspicion entered his mind. A number of apparently unimportant incidents and allusions, had perhaps, cumulative effect, with the consequence that this charming, fair-haired girl with the most wonderfully dark blue eyes he had ever looked into, the most attractive of her sex, whom he had already determined to marry, if she would have him; Theresa Feversham appeared as an adventuress—a "crook," who, moreover, must be working with a confederate.

On leaving Saint Martha's Hospital in the autumn of 1915 Foster had served for a few months on a destroyer, subsequently being ordered to join the army in the near east. Although his father had left him enough money to purchase a practice or a partnership, he secretly felt, on his demobilisation, the slightest inclination to settle down. There was plenty of time. Even when his eyes were open to Theresa's dissimulation, he had only recently passed his thirty-first birthday. As, however, it was necessary to do something, unless he wished to trench upon his modest capital, he had already taken several voyages in the capacity of doctor in ships of the Yellow Funnell Line, and he had in fact returned from New York aboard the s.s. Egeria shortly before Christmas.

Foster Markwell looked as if he had some association with the sea, with his fair hair, wide forehead, and steady grey eyes. Above the average height and well built, he was not conspicuously handsome, certainly not plain, his mouth was firm and rather wide, his nose, perhaps, a little too short. Although Miss Feversham had not required his professional services, he had tried to see as much of her as possible during the voyage, being astonished in the first place, that she should be travelling entirely alone without either a maid or a chaperon. Not that it was possible to question her ability to take care of herself, and indeed her gaily irresponsible manner contrasted piquantly with her firmness in dealing with one or two over-adventurous men, whom Foster had begun to hate.

"Will you be staying long in England?" he asked, pacing the saloon deck by her side on the evening before they expected to land.

"You will probably be the first to sail again," she answered. "It's possible," he said with a laugh. "I may wait for your ship." "You would have to be patient," she said. "I have taken a furnished flat for three months."

"A flat?" he returned, thinking it remarkable that she was not going to an hotel. "I had a friend who came over to study painting," Theresa explained. "She took the flat—the tiniest you can imagine—at Treadwell Mansion."

"Where is that?" asked Foster. "Oh, nothing would have induced her to live anywhere but at Chelsea, but after some months of it, she was seized by a desire to attend a studio in Paris, and she wrote to ask whether I knew anyone who would be likely to relieve her of her responsibility."

"So, you stepped into the breach?" suggested Foster. "I had already promised," she said, "to come to England with my uncle later on—you may have heard his name: Elias Feversham."

The name was known, it might be said, wherever the English language was spoken. Elias Feversham was the owner of several newspapers in the United States, and had the reputation of being a multi-millionaire. This relationship was all that Foster knew about her, save that she was the most delightful woman in the world—about twenty-five years of age, he would have said.

"I thought," she continued, "it might be rather amusing to have a few preliminary weeks on my own, and on the spur of the moment I cabled. I don't know whether I may not find it a wee bit slow after all."

"Not if I may relieve the monotony," he urged. "So I hope you will let me look you up."

As she came to a standstill, leaning against the taffrail, he wondered whether she was going to resent his audacity. For a few anxious moments she did not speak, gazing into his perhaps too eager face with a thoughtful expression on her own.

"Well, you can ring me up, anyhow," she said, with the very slightest trace of a drawl, though it was enough to suggest, quite agreeably, her nationality. "If I don't feel like it," she added, "I promise to let you know."

With this he had to be contented for the present, but after trying to be patient he telephoned a few days after Christmas from his rooms in Upper Baker Street, might he take her out to luncheon?

Again, he fancied she was hesitating, but eventually an appointment was made for the following day. Reaching Treadwell Mansion, a high, gloomy building in a narrow street near the embankment, at one o'clock, he made his way up the stone stairs to the third floor. He had forgotten how charming she actually was.

She was not very tall, slightly below the average height, he thought, and even the prevalent fashion could not spoil her figure.

And she looked unequivocally pleased as she offered her hand, inviting him to enter though she was ready to set forth.

"So you live here entirely alone," he suggested, standing by her side in the limited space of the hall.

"There would be scarcely room for anybody else," she cried, leading the way to the sitting-room on the left. "There's just a bedroom, with a bathroom opposite, and have you ever seen such a wee kitchen?"

As she spoke, she opened a second door, to the right of the gas fire hidden by a heavy, green plush curtain. The kitchen was scarcely more than a cupboard.

"I pig for myself all day," she explained, "and go out to dine every evening."

He determined that henceforth she should not be allowed to go often alone, and when he looked back subsequently it seemed certain that she had known nothing of Miss Croom's treasure on this day of their first luncheon in London together. For his own part he had not heard of the existence of the black metal box. Ignorance was bliss, and Foster Markwell was not enlightened till three days before his aunt's murder.

It was the morning of Tuesday, January the eighth. He found a letter on the breakfast table entreating him to come to her house at Number 5, Baynton Crescent, Haverstock Hill, at seven the same evening. She wanted to speak to him "very particularly."

CHAPTER II.

A Serious Mission.

A confounded nuisance, Foster had seen Miss Croom less than a week ago, when she had been in a state of great agitation on account of a recent burglary, the third in the neighbourhood during the past month. He imagined she still felt nervous and wished to relieve her feelings on the subject. Of course she was a dear, old-fashioned, little woman, his mother's younger sister, and he always remembered to send her picture postcards from abroad, when he came home, however, he found conversation difficult after the first five minutes.

She seldom read a newspaper and she lived out of the world in her one-storeyed, semi-detached house, her only interest in life, apart from the Nonconformist chapel which she had regularly attended for the past fifteen years, being her carefully kept garden. Foster, having already taken Theresa out two or three times since the beginning of the new year, had intended to telephone after breakfast this morning to make an appointment to dine, but now that would be out of the question. He would not get back from Haverstock Hill in time. Still, he was too good-natured to leave Miss Croom in the lurch, though he grumbled freely as he set forth this cold January evening.

To his surprise it was she who opened the door, instead of her maid; a tiny woman with hair already white and dressed with extreme care. She always seemed to wear a quantity of old lace about her shoulders, and Foster

"She took him to the sitting-room behind the dining-room, where everything was exactly in its right place. The white flowers under the glass shade in the middle of the oval table had been preserved from his mother's wedding cake, but the first thing Foster always noticed was the enlarged photograph standing in a gilt frame on the top of the black, cottage piano that was seldom opened. The portrait represented a tall, exceedingly thin, weary-looking man in a white drill suit with a suggestion of uniform about it, and a large sun helmet with a puggaree.

This was the late Mr. Croom, Evelyn's father and Foster's grandfather, who had died fifteen years ago. For some time he held a post at one of the smallest but wealthiest of the native Indian courts, but failing health had driven him back to England, where he married a woman considerably younger than himself, who died in giving birth to her second daughter, Foster's mother having been the first.

Mr. Croom had a reputation for eccentricity and miserliness. His grandson always thought that he looked as if he had committed a crime and suffered ever after from ceaseless remorse. A good many people were astonished that he left so little behind him, and, in fact, his solicitor had advised Miss Croom to invest what there was in the purchase of a Government annuity.

By the side of the photograph lay a brown paper parcel about fourteen inches long, eight wide, and four deep. It looked as if it contained something hard and angular—a box, for instance.

Miss Croom did not invite Foster to sit down. She seemed to have forgotten in her obvious preoccupation. He stood talking about the weather, and speculating on the probability of skating, when suddenly she darted towards the piano, taking the parcel in her hands.

"What have you got there?" he asked, as she held it against her breast.

"My dear," she cried emotionally, "I know I can trust you. It would be very hard if I couldn't. There's no one else in all this world belonging to me. I sent Martha out expressly, though she will want to go again on Thursday as well."

"That sounds rather mysterious," said Foster, with a laugh. "Not quite like you, Aunt Evelyn."

"Ah!" she answered with a sigh. She was certainly unlike herself this evening. "How can one human being ever form the slightest idea what another's really like? My life was over and done with before your's well began, Foster," she added, drawing closer and looking up plaintively into his face, "there's something I am going to ask you to do for me. Something very, very important."

"You've only to tell me what," he said solemnly this time.

"I knew you would say that! I want you to take this box away and keep it with the greatest care, till I ask for it back."

"Well," that seems simple enough," he said.

"Yes," she continued, "but you must understand this. If anyone should ever ask for it, you are to say: 'No. Have nothing whatever to do with him. Never mind how specious he may be, or what sort of story he may tell, you are not to part with it till you put it in my hands again.'"

"You mustn't forget," urged Foster, "that sooner or later I shall be off on another voyage."

"When are you likely to sail?" demanded Miss Croom.

"Oh well, I suppose I shall stay ashore as long as the money holds out," said Foster, thinking of Theresa Feversham.

"All I can say is," exclaimed Miss Croom, "that you must have care to give me as long notice as possible. Then I can consider what is the best to be done."

With the air of parting with some precious possession, she solemnly placed the parcel in his hands and though not very heavy, he had expected to find it lighter. Miss Croom was obviously reluctant to part with it, and to his astonishment, she not only accompanied him to the hall, but across the small front garden to the gate, standing there, peering this way and that through the darkness, as though to satisfy herself there were no lookers-on.

As far as he could judge, the crescent was entirely deserted. For a few moments he stood there, listening to her exhortations to take the greatest care of the parcel, then promising to preserve it from every kind of danger, he walked away, glancing back, however, before he turned the corner, raising his hat with one hand, while he held the stout string with the other.

Miss Croom was still standing at the garden gate, leaning forward so that Foster could see her white head. He little dreamed as he left Baynton Crescent that he had looked upon her alive for the last time.

BREACH ACTION AFTER THIRTY YEARS.

TROUSSEAU THAT GOT OUT OF DATE.

A woman of 50, who said she began to collect garments for her "bottom drawer" nearly 30 years ago, brought an action for breach of promise at Leicester Assizes last month.

Damages of £1,000 were claimed by Miss Annie Mills from Mr. Frank Jesson, aged 53, a wheelwright and dealer.

Mr. C. E. Loseby, for Miss Mills, said the couple had been engaged for nearly 30 years.

At first Jesson said his father was rather peculiar, and would cut him out of his will if he got married, and after his father died in 1916 he postponed the marriage because his sister was consumptive.

Love And Rations.

His sister died in 1917, and then Jesson said it was no time to get married. They could not live on rations. The wedding was accordingly postponed again, and it was only last year that Jesson broke it off.

Miss Mills began to keep a bottom drawer when they were first engaged, and all the things were now hopelessly out of date.

Mr. Henderson, for the defence, said he had not had sufficient time to consider the statement of claim. Mr. Justice Sankey: Perhaps, in that case, it would be better if the case went on to the next Assizes.

Counsel agreed, and the jury was discharged.

The Judge: After all this time another couple of months won't make any difference.

American Express Travelers Cheques

Definition of TRAVELLERS' CHEQUES—

"The system of Travellers' Cheques was originated in 1891 by the American Express Company with the object of creating a form of travel currency which would give the holder the security of a letter of credit and at the same time the convenience of local currency. The Company registered the cheques under the trade name of 'AMERICAN EXPRESS TRAVELLERS' CHEQUES' the word 'Travellers' being spelled with one 'l'. The advantage of the Cheques was so apparent that other banking institutions adopted the system."

Quoted from Pittman's Dictionary of Banking by Wm. Thomson.

Issued in £10, £5, £2, £1, and 50s. and 25s. and 10s. denominations—bound in a small handy wallet—and cost only 1/2 of 1 per cent.

DUCE SPEAKS OUT.

ACTS AND NOT TALK.

Rome, Mar. 3. In the Chamber, Signor Mussolini was loudly applauded when he made a vigorous speech with regard to the position of the German minorities in the Italian Tyrol.

He said, "This is the last time I shall speak on this subject. The next time I shall make acts speak" (loud applause).

He declared that the Austrian complaint was unjustified and provocative. The territory concerned had been treated like other Italian provinces. Reports of tyranny, torture, and murder by a barbarous Fascist dictatorship in the Upper Adige were ridiculous. "We are not pupils of Austria, which throughout the last century peopled half Europe with executioners, filled the prisons with martyrs, and erected gallows incessantly."

Press Threatened.

Mussolini next dwelt on Italian tolerance. The great public works undertaken by Italy in the Upper Adige had cost hundreds of millions of lire.

He declared that as Italy's great forbearance had been misinterpreted, all the fifteen German newspapers in the Upper Adige would be suppressed if the anti-Italian campaign were continued, and foreign employees would be shortly transferred elsewhere or dismissed.

Cold Determination.

Austrian hostility to Italy was due to the "Germanism" feeling being unable to win against the cold, systematic determination of Fascist Italy. Italy wished to be friends with the Germanic world, provided Italian security were never again even vaguely called into question.

After referring to the German agitation for the reunion of North and South Tyrol, Mussolini concluded, "We make it known to Austria and to the world that the whole of Italy, with its quick and its dead, stands at Brenner" (loud cheers).

Hint in the League.

In the course of his speech, Mussolini, referring to the League of Nations, declared, "If the Assembly of the League thrusts its way into the labyrinth of the so-called minorities, it will never come out alive."—Reuter.

Austrian Allegations.

A Rome message of February 24 stated: The Giornale d'Italia, in a special edition, gives currency to a report that Signor Mussolini has decided to recall the Italian Minister in Vienna. The foregoing step is a sequel to protests in the Austrian Chamber against the alleged oppression of the Austrian minority in South Tyrol. The Austrian Chancellor, Dr. Seipel, has, in fiery language, appealed to Italy and the world on this alleged oppression.

A Vienna message of February 25 reported: The Italian Minister has informed the Chancellor that acting on telegraphic instructions from the Italian Government he is going to Rome to present a report. The recall of the Italian Minister is believed in Parliamentary circles to be chiefly to enable him to inform Mussolini more closely as regards the Austrian attitude on the South Tyrol question. No anxiety is felt concerning any breach of Italo-Austrian political relations. It is argued that Dr. Seipel's speech in Parliament was strictly within proper limits for a discussion of international questions, and Italy has no reason to feel that its national honour is affected.

GENEVA COUNCIL.

SIR AUSTEN CHAMBERLAIN ATTENDS LEAGUE.

London, Mar. 3. Sir Austen Chamberlain has left for Geneva to attend the League Council.—Reuter.

London, March 3. The Foreign Secretary, Sir Austen Chamberlain, accompanied by his private secretary, Mr. Walford Serby, left London for Geneva this morning, to attend the meeting of the League of Nations which opens on Monday.

During the course of the meetings of the Council, Sir Ronald Lindsay, until lately Ambassador to Berlin, and who has been appointed to succeed Sir William Tyrrell as Permanent Under-Secretary of State for Foreign Affairs, will visit Geneva. He will attend the Council meetings.—British Wireless.

SHEIK ON WARPATH.

MUCH CONCERN IN IRAK TERRITORIES.

London, March 3.

The situation created by the warlike activities of the Wahabis on the Irak frontier appears to be causing increased concern to the British authorities in Irak. A Basra message states that the second most powerful Sheik in Nejd is believed to be preparing to advance against the Koweit and Irak frontier, with 20,000 men.

An armoured train is now running from Basra to the Royal Air Force base at Ur-of-the-Chaldees. A new Air Force base has been established at Koweit, where two squadrons are concentrated.

The naval sloop Cyclops and Lupin have joined the cruiser Emerald in the bay.—Reuter.

RUBBER QUESTION.

CEYLON'S PETITION.

Colombo, Mar. 3.

The Lowcountry Products Association has forwarded to Mr. L. C. Amery a resolution asking for the immediate abolition of rubber restriction, declaring that restriction in production and reclamation, and large extensions of production in foreign countries.

Every increase in the demand has been met by an increase in the non-British production. Production is again getting ahead of consumption, and unless an extension of production in foreign countries, which is being stimulated and helped by restriction, is checked by the latter's immediate removal, the injury to industry in Ceylon will be irreparable, especially if corporate buying be introduced, and if the antagonising of consuming leads to protection against Ceylon, which has already got far behind foreign competition.—Reuter.

STORM DAMAGE.

TRANS-CAUCASIA SWEEP BY ELEMENTS.

Moscow, Mar. 3.

Railway traffic was interrupted and telegraphic communications between many towns cut as the result of violent snowstorms in Trans-Caucasia.

There have been serious avalanches in the mountains. A house at Batum collapsed under the weight of the snow, and five people were killed and four seriously injured.—Reuter.

London, March 3. "One-armed" Sutton, prior to his departure for Vancouver, where he is going to settle, said that since he had left China eight months ago, Marshal Chang Tso-lin had twice implored him to return, but he had decided to keep out of it while he was safe. There were others in China who coveted his position.—Reuter.

Cool, Shady Decks to Enjoy

The great wide glass enclosed promenade decks of the President Liners—with their dozens of comfortable, inviting steamer chairs. You will enjoy spending much of your time here lounging, reading and conversing with friends.

The magnificent President Liners are broad of beam and exceptionally steady.

All are oil burners, swift express liners.

The public rooms are luxuriously appointed and inviting.

All staterooms are outside, splendidly furnished and equipped with beds—not berths. Each room has hot and cold running water, also fans, wardrobe, thermos bottles and reading lamps. Private bath and showers in connection with many rooms perfect the travel comfort of these giant passenger liners.

The Cuisine is world famous. The deliciously prepared menus will delight you. And how the orchestra adds zest to your dining.

The decks are spacious. The Glass-enclosed Promenade always popular. Deck sports, open air swimming pool, movies, evening dances—everything has been done to make your trip a happy one. Unexcelled anywhere—is the courteous and efficient service accorded you by the trained personnel aboard the President Liners.

The great frequency of sailings and the liberal stopover privileges of the Dollar Steamship and American Mail Lines have made these giant passenger liners outstandingly popular among travelers.

MARSHAL LI LEAVES.

for the Feiyang. The gunboat left port shortly afterwards. Members of the Executive and Legislative Councils, Navy and Army officers and many other prominent European and Chinese residents were on the pier for the official farewell to Marshal Li.

FINAL GREETINGS.

Marshal Li's Thanks.

The following wireless communications were exchanged between Marshal Li Chai-sum and H. E. the Governor at the moment of the former's departure for Canton: His Excellency the Governor, Government House, Hongkong.

I have the honour to thank Your Excellency most heartily for your courtesies and kindnesses extended to me on my formal visit to Hongkong. I wish to assure you of the very sincere welcome of the Provincial Government and the people when you return my official call in Canton. The result of our mutual visits will certainly lead to improving international relations and encouraging commercial intercourse. My heart goes with this telegram.—Li Chai-sum.

His Excellency Marshal Li Chai-sum, on Board the Feiyang. Many thanks for your telegram. Your very welcome visit has re-established the traditional amity between Canton and Hongkong in an unmistakable manner and upon a basis so firm that we hope it may never be shaken. The presence of Madame Li Chai-sum and Mrs. Li Man-yun added a touch of personal friendship and sets a charming precedent for the future. My wife and I look forward with pleasant expectation to our visit to Canton on Friday next.—Clementi.

BRITISH TRADE.

GOOD BUSINESS DONE AT THE FAIR.

London, March 3. The London and Birmingham sections of the British Industries Fair closed last night. Over 100,000 buyers and 30,000 of the public visited the London section, the overseas buyers representing sixty countries.

Mr. Douglas Hacking, the Parliamentary Secretary of the Overseas Trade Department, which organises the fair, said last night that he had received on all sides assurances that business this year had been better than at the last fair. The great majority of exhibitors expressed satisfaction with their results. An evidence of this, provisional applications for space for the 1929 fair are being received from exhibitors in great numbers, and over 100,000 square feet has already been applied for. In the pottery and glass-ware sections, for instance, 20,000 square feet has already been earmarked out of 25,000 occupied this year.

Manufacturers regard the fair as affording a remarkable opportunity for introducing novelties of all kinds to the markets of the world.

The business done at the heavy section of the fair at Birmingham has exceeded all previous records.—British Wireless.

OBITUARY.

MR. JAMES KIDD.

London, Mar. 3.

Mr. James Kidd, the Conservative Member of Parliament for Linlithgow, died suddenly last night, after addressing a local political meeting. Mr. Kidd complained of feeling unwell during the meeting, and after resting in an anteroom he drove with his wife to consult a doctor. He collapsed, and died in the motor-car.

Mr. Kidd's majority over the Labour candidate, Mr. Shinwell, at the general election, was 640.—British Wireless.

[The late Mr. James Kidd, a solicitor by profession, was born in 1872. After leaving Edinburgh University, he took up a successful law practice, and later stood for Parliament in the Conservative interest, being representative for Linlithgowshire from 1918 to 1922, and again since 1924. He was Parliamentary Secretary to the Scottish Board of Health in 1922.]

RUSSIA & GERMANY.

MOSCOW PRESS CRITICISES COMMERCIAL TREATY.

Moscow, March 3.

The tenth anniversary of the signing of the Treaty of Brest-Litovsk is signalled by newspaper articles declaring that the Russo-German commercial negotiations have hitherto been encountering snags.

The Izvestia opposes a German suggestion to establish an export bank, on the ground that the bank is unnecessary, as neither side proposes to revise the Russo-German trade treaty embodying recognition of the Soviet monetary system.

The Pravda protests against the efforts in the German press to ascribe a "sensational character" to the negotiations, as an event on which the fate of the Soviet depends.—Reuter.

CHANCE FOR SOVIET.

SWEDEN GRANTS BUSINESS CONCESSION.

Stockholm, March 3.

The Riksdag has adopted a Government Bill approving of an agreement regarding the rights and duties of the Soviet trade delegation to Stockholm.

The opponents, who included the ex-Premier Hammerskjold, objected to the conferment of extra-territorial rights on forty Soviet officials.

The Foreign Minister assured the Conservative leader, Trygger, in the Upper Chamber, that the agreement would be denounced if the trade delegation were found to be working outside their legitimate objects.—Reuter.

AMERICANS SEEK COMPROMISE.SMITHSONIAN INSTITUTION
WANT WRIGHT PLANE.

NEW DESCRIPTIONS.

Washington, Mar. 4.
The Smithsonian Institution is making strong efforts to win back the Wright aeroplane, which has been sent to Britain as the result of a dispute between Mr. Orville Wright and the Institution authorities.

The secretary now offers to change the label affixed to the Langley model, which describes it as the first machine capable of flight to "the original Langley flying machine of 1903 restored."

This offer is conditional upon Mr. Orville Wright's promise to deposit his original machine
"where it has always been wanted, where it will have a position of honour, and where the label will state that it is the first heavier-than-air craft in the history of the world to accomplish a sustained and free flight under its own power and carrying a man."

ing dismantled.—Reuter.

ZINOVIEFF LETTER
DISCLOSURES.

Recently, the committee presided over by Sir Warren Fisher, investigated the matter and it is considered unlikely that any useful purpose would be served by a further inquiry.

"Daily Mail" Knowledge.

The question of how the Daily Mail became possessed of a copy of the Zinovieff letter before its publication by the Government is answered in a long letter by Sir Thomas Marlowe. He states that two days before its publication he heard of the existence of the letter from two old and trusted friends.
On the following day he received copies of the letter from two different sources. The Zinovieff letter did not cost the Daily Mail a single penny and the gentlemen from whom he received the copies would have been affronted if he had offered money for the information they supplied.

Sir Thomas Marlowe adds that he had never to his knowledge seen Mr. J. D. Gregory, nor had any connexion with him, direct or indirect.

Mr. MacDonald Sympathetic.

In a speech in his constituency last night, Mr. Ramsay Macdonald referring to the result of the franc case inquiry said the punishment of those found guilty of the most culpable folly had been swift and terribly severe.

He considered from a personal point of view, the punishment was excessive, but he also considered the needs of the Service such that no punishment less than that given could sensibly be regarded as adequate.—British Wireless.

WAR ON SWABUE
COMMUNISTS.

The 11th Army is now largely in Canton, but part of the 26th Brigade is left here to be at the disposal of the Defence coming

—Our Own Correspondent.

General Tang Ying-wah.

General Tang Ying-wah, Commander of the 5th Army and Chief of the Canton Police Force, is not likely to resign from the latter post, it is now reported.

Marshal Li Chai-sun appointed him to lead the Canton Army against the Communists and bandits in East River districts, and it was thought General Tang would resign the post of Chief of Police to enable him to concentrate his attention on the expedition.

It is learned that General Tang has been allowed one month to complete the elimination of the "Reds," while Mr. Wong Kong-chung and Mr. Chan Lang-yan will jointly conduct the affairs of the Public Safety Bureau, the Headquarters of the Canton
Police.

Washington, Feb. 6.—Following a suggestion outlined by Commander Burney, a Bill was introduced into the House of Representatives to-day authorising the Postmaster-General to contract for mails by dirigible. The minimum trips are to be 2,000 miles, and the minimum rate 3 dollars (12s.) per lb.—Ex-

FOG DELAYS.

"ON LEE" REFLOATS AFTER GOING AGROUND.

The adverse weather conditions in the Delta continued over the week-end, impeding shipping generally and resulting in delay to both the s.s. Kong Ning and s.s.
On Lee.

The Kong Ning arrived on Sunday, more than 24 hours late,
having been compelled to anchor
for a considerable period.

The On Lee, sailing from Hongkong on Friday evening, went ashore in dense fog and remained aground for nearly 24 hours, being unable to complete the round trip within schedule time. She arrived here at 9.15 p.m. on Sunday, her scheduled time being midnight on Saturday.

The Master, Captain A. Fernandez, states that the ship grounded close to Staunton Island (Sa Tau Sha) on March 3rd, at 7 a.m.
The armed launch, H.M.S. Nessus, was quickly in attendance and made two attempts to tow the vessel off, without result. She remained standing by, meanwhile communicating with Kongmoon.

The On Lee refloated at 11.15 p.m. the same day. Meanwhile, arrangements had been made between H.M.S. Nessus and H.M.S.
Robin, at Kongmoon, for the provision of lighters and junks from that port, for the transference of passengers, numbering more than 700. The On Lee has suffered no damage and will sail on schedule at 7 p.m. to-day.

The master expresses thanks to the Commanding Officer and crew of H.M.S. Nessus for assistance rendered and also to the Commanding Officer of H.M.S.
Robin for arrangements made with the Commissioner of Customs at Kongmoon for the transfer of passengers.

The Kong Ning, Tai Hing and other vessels on the West River run, have been considerably delayed, but there are no other groundings reported, the hold-ups in all cases being due to fog and anchoring for clear weather.
It is announced that registration difficulties having been overcome, the Wing On will resume on the Kongmoon run at 7 p.m. tomorrow.

FORMER SHANTUNG
SOLDIER.ARMS POSSESSION CASE FAILS.

Yesterday, a Shantung ex-soldier was taken into custody from the s.s. Borneo and this morning charged, before Mr. W. Schofield, with being in possession of four revolvers.

It was stated by Sergeant Barnicke that the defendant occupied a bed space between the fore and after holds. In a beam at the head of his bed were found the revolvers. When questioned by the searcher, the defendant said that he was taking the arms to Yunnan to a friend. The searcher, however, spoke Cantonese.

His Worship said that the revolvers were really found in the ship's timber near the defendant's bed. The evidence against him was very weak.

The defendant was discharged, and the police were instructed to see that he left the Colony.

FOR THE NATIONALIST
ARMY.MORE UNITS SENT TO THE FRONT.

Shanghai, Mar. 5.

It is reported that Marshal
Chiang Kai-shek has ordered certain details of the Chekiang Provincial Defence Force and two artillery units of the Kiangnan Battary to be despatched to Hsuechow to join the Northern Expeditionary Army.

Marshal Chiang and General Ho
Ying-ching left for Nanking yesterday at 11 p.m. by special train.—Nam Chung Pao.

ITALY'S NEW
LEGIONS.THE DUCE'S ADDRESS TO BLACKSHIRTS.

AS SHOCK TROOPS.

Rome, Feb. 1.

To celebrate the fifth anniversary of the creation of the National Militia or "Blackshirt"
Army, Signor Mussolini addressed
this morning 500 superior officers of the corps in the new "Mussolini Barracks" in Rome.

The Duce, addressing the Consuls, that is the colonels of the corps, himself wearing his uniform as Commander-in-Chief of the Militia, spoke as follows:

"With the elimination of all our enemies and the committing to the flames of anti-Fascist militias, our political tasks have logically changed to military tasks. I conceived the plan of forming a Militia, as also the Grand Council, on January 12, 1925. The scheme became law in the following February.

"The Militia has become the great armed force of the Fascist State. Its discipline and organisation have been perfected and its armament with rifles will soon be completed. From the extreme confines of the desert and from the waters of our seas to the heights of the mountains, it serves as the arm of the revolution, the villain's eye of the regime.

"The Militia has been charged with land and air defence and undergoes preliminary military and naval instruction, so that each year's levies before passing into the Army serve in the National Militia. I insist that the commanders of the Legions must devote themselves to looking after the preliminary military and naval education of the Italian people.

Disdain of Danger.

"On our instructions the Chief of Staff of the Army has forced the problem of the organic employment of the Militia in case of war, and has solved that problem. I am sure that the Legions will merit honour thus done them by preparing themselves to be assault troops, with bayonets between teeth, bombs in hand, and sovereign disdain of danger in their hearts.

"You know many people hate us in the world, both as Italy and as a regime. We must be ready to defend one and the other."

The Duce then read a message to the King, saying that the 500 officers of the Militia, convoked at Rome, affirmed their devotion to his Majesty. The message concluded: "The voluntary Militia, with its 166 Legions, only asks to serve fraternally with the other armed forces, your Majesty's Fascist regime, and the power of the country."

Future of Fascist Grand Council.

Rome, Jan. 31.

At last night's meeting of the Fascist Grand Council it is understood that the relations between the party and Parliament were debated. Signor Rocco presented a project, the final examination of which was postponed till next Thursday. The forthcoming Bill, I learn, will define the position of the Grand Council, which, though the supreme executive body of the Fascist State, has at present no juridical standing. It is believed that the new Bill will recognise it as the chief directive organ of the State.

The Senate will not be reformed, and it is assumed that representatives of the labour corporations, masters and men, will be included. The future Chamber will contained 400 members.

AIRCRAFT IN PUNITIVE
WARFARE."FIRE BRIGADE RAPIDITY OF ACTION."

A strong case for the use of aircraft in punitive operations against tribesmen was made out by Wing-Commander R. H. Peck in a paper on "Aircraft in Small Wars," read before the Royal United Service Institution. Air Marshal Sir John Salmond was in the chair.

Wing-Commander Peck pointed out that aircraft, by their "fire-brigade rapidity of action," were able to gain their effect without inflicting heavy casualties or causing animosity among the tribesmen.

It was essential, he added, when air action was contemplated, to give the air officer commanding full powers to act as he thought best. On recent occasions the advantages of the rapidity of air action had been lost through delays in getting authority for action. Such delays were crippling and entailed far more action in the long run.
